The SCUD Storm patch is pretty much ready to be released bar some codes which need to be done. How many of you would actually play this (not regurly) if a server was to be hosted?

We need to know how good it is in order to determine how much we would play it in the first place...

Running a trial for the first few days after release would be good for determining its popularity.

Well, as long as there's no random crashing, it's in English, and there's some decent maps, I'll probably play it.

80% of it is in English. StealthEye and Ghostshaw fixed many bugs. OWA sent me 10 maps last year.

If it doesn't crash when I use Laser Missiles or when I capture enemy buildings, or Battlemasters somehow better than Crusaders, and the overpowered units bug, yes.

To be honest, there will be about 3-5 players playing. Because it doesn't change anything special.

As interesting as the game sounds, I can predict numbers will reach 8 max. It's sad but true.

If you mean TC mods in general don't get many players, you should try playing APB one of these days, the official server is almost always full. As long as TC mods are actually balanced and fun to play, people will play them.

Seriously, APB should get another server. People want to play multiplayer but most of them are banned. We need more servers.

I'm not the one that is buying the servers. Can you realize that?

Ok, john22395 is the one that might get them. He is 19.

I have 6 new maps.. 3 of which are tests really. 1 of them contains GLA vehicles. Would you like us to include the test maps also?

The SF-clan hosts a 24/7 server on APB. Well, they rent it from us, actually .

Back on-topic: I might try this out .
