To be fair, he's apologising in case someone did something whilst his account was not under his control. Ignore that it's WHOREQUEER for a moment, and that's normal.

This topic can go now.

Apology or not, the fact remains the same that all 3 of them need to fuck off.

I don't think so. This guy didn't do anything wrong.

Heavy and John are the ones who need to grow up.

You, obviously, haven't had to deal with blackhand. Unless he actually turned over a new leaf, my statement stands.

Aparrently YOU don't know much cheezesoda the only reason Why i acted like that is because i was defending "WHOREQUEER" (really Good idea at that time.. now it seems really foolish) anyway yes i am completely cut off from ferkhat or "WHOREQUEER"! he freaking found my DYNDNS.com password and deleted the account and zippp.. there goes IP redirection!

Well, it doesn't take much to find an exe that does the complex stuff for you. The click of a button, and you're into someone's account.

No.. because that's basically how hackers are. If you think a hacker is some fat, smelly, 40 year old in his mom's basement that knows a lot about computers and various computer systems, then you are fearing for the wrong reason.

Most hackers are morons with no real grasp on what they are doing and without the concept of what they are doing is right or wrong.

Don't get me wrong, not all hackers are like that, that would just be stereotypical. There are all types of hackers, but for the most part, your basic hacker threat composes of the kind of person I just described.

That's not the type of hacker we are talking about.

That type of hacker is the kind of hacker that would say break into some high security system and steal data or transfer funds or something like that.

The kind of hacker we're talking about is someone trying to takes someone's account on a website.:\
