He didn't know how long it would take... And I don't know about you, but even if I'm just gone the weekend then people start asking me where I was the day after... It's only polite to inform people who might want to talk to you that you will be gone for a little while.

Anyway, welcome back jonwil.

I see your point, maybe I was a little rude at first.

Ya, especially since he is one of the people keeping this game alive that you play (but still suck at).

I see your point, maybe I was a little rude at first.
