Hi guys, yes i am a newbie, i recently bought Command And Conquer The First Decade and i started to play renegade online, Ive been playing for three days now and i have not been ranked yet, i have done some research on this problem but i have not resolved it yet.

i was told it has something to do with Westwood closing down or something like that.

i am registered

if any one can help me ill be on my msn account, thnx for your time so i cant get an individual score?

to get a score do i have to join a clan someone told me i should be recommended first or by the end of this month i should be ranked.

Noone can get a global ladder score. However, many servers have an individual rank. So you can get a rank in that specific server but it doesn't transfer over servers.

so if i continue to play on the noobstories server my rank status will show up?

its just a shame that my individual score doesnt show up, on the screen before you choose a server.

and what do i have to do to get in a clan Guyver, welcome. There is a website which will show your individual ranking. the site is

<http://renladder.blackhand-studios.net/>

Alot servers are connected to it including n00bstories.

And if you want to get in a clan, visit <http://clanwars.cc> There is a renegade league special for clanwar games!

Good luck
