wow nice. This is not resolution. They rip these from the game data and put them together as one picture.

That's how they are able to get maps of levels.

No they are actual screen shots. I had a friend who had a mod you started up before RA2 and you could run at monstrously large screen resolutions. It gave you a large advantage too as you could watch the whole battlefield at once. Well, I should say that they COULD be actual screen shots. I don't know if these ones employ that method but I will certainly say it is possible.
