Tried it when it came out as an open beta. It was cool, then it got fucking annoying. It's VERY basic. The ONLY aspect of it that's decent is the modification stuff, and even that's limited. There's no custom weapon colors, and so on. Plus, GP is just annoying to get. I'd like it alot more if you didn't have to rent shit.

Yeah, the game is pretty easy when you start out. Just wait, though, get on the regular servers and you'll learn the new definition of sniper whoring.

Also: Don't buy the LAW, it fucking sucks.

It's hardly good at all. It's mediocre at best, you're not missing much, Ryu. It's basically your generic FPS, minus classes. You get to sort of "make your own class", and that's about it.

The game is now pretty much sniper whoring like Cabal says. Everyone gets sniper and that's it...so it gets boring but I think I will play still though.

EDIT: it's fun cuz you can get better gear and carry a sniper rifle too. Also you can mod your assault rifle with a scope...so sniping actually becomes fun but it sucks for those just learning the ropes of the game lol

My friend told me a way of cheating in this game by plugging out the LAN wire, walking into the enemy area and plugging the wire back in at which point the server would continue sending and receiving data to and from the player. The player has now successfully teleported across the map and can start killing everyone from behind.

What sort of game doesn't account for such retarded methods of cheating? Oh I know! This one!

Even the code in Renegade is better than this (from what I heard from my friend and comparing it to my experience in Renegade, lagkills happen a million times more in Combat Arms)
This is just next in the long line of un-innovative free first person shooters that people just play without knowing why.

There is a reason why those games are released free Sucks the same as warrock. Loved the beta of Warrock, but the full version, didn't had the same feeling the Warrock beta had.

Certain Source mods are even better then this game, if you ask me. Of course, some people might like this game, and that's there decision.

What's a good rifle to pick? My 7-day AK-47 rental ran out and my shotgun rental will be over in 1 day. I am thinking of just upgrading my M-16 with silencer and scope and move on from there.

the best rifle in the game is the G36E

Best default rifle, yeah, because it comes with a scope. Grab an AK47 and any sort of scope for that though, and you'll be unstoppable. Unless they nerfed it, I dunno.

Ugh, I hate how an automatic rifle can kill someone in less hits than a shotgun. What the fuck? It takes like, 3 hits of a SPAS-12 shotgun to kill someone, and 3-2 to kill someone with pretty much any auto rifle.

Another reason why this game sucks.

Also, I wouldn't be calling people "faggots who can't get their facts straight", considering you're incredibly ignorant to the fact that there are and have been European players playing Combat Arms. They just don't too much cuz it's a pain in the ass to get it to work.

Plus, you were being vague about the whole "lag" thing.

Quote:

Europeans can't play so it's not very laggy...it's sweet

Generally speaking, you're implying it's laggy in general. Which usually translates to, YOU'RE experience lag when you say "it's laggy". I understand you might have meant something different. But I also understand you're an ignorant fuck who tries to cover up his failure with a half assed excuse.

I find it hilarious that you're bashing someone for not having enough "intellectual value", when you're being so damned retarded. Get the fuck out.

I got an AK-74U instead and modded with scope and a silencer on standby. I am good to go for another 7 days.

@ Cabal: Yeah man you are right about the SPAS. It sucks unless the enemy health is in red.

Yeah, I tried the Remington a bit, but ugh, either way, you HAVE to get a headshot for either to do dick. It's a fucking shotgun, I should be capable of killing them a lot quicker with it.

obviously you suck dick at this game...because the G36E is the best by far, no matter how much shit you throw on any other auto rifle, the G36E is going to be better...everyone in clanwars uses them because they know how to play, you obviously don't...i use the military shotgun and i get a one hit kill everytime, maybe you should consider that you probably just suck balls at this game? lol...spend more time playing and less time posting and you might get decent...i think you're trying to flame me ..but i don't care to get in a fight with someone who probably doesn't even play renegade and yet sits on renegade forums 99% of his day...

Yeah, that's why this game sucks balls. There's only one "good weapon" in the whole damn game. That's fucking gay, every weapon should be a good choice, or atleast most of them.

Also, I find it hilarious how you criticize someone for apparently being wrong about something, yet you don't have the balls to argue on your own behalf.

Lastly, as I said, you generally need a headshot with the shotgun. I dunno, maybe I should have used the remington more, but the SPAS-12 sure as hell sucked more balls than it should have. Unless they recently introduced a new shotgun, both sucked as far as I know.

Dude quit being a faggot, whether Cabal is a nerd or not has nothing to do with this shit. Somebody doesn't agree with you about a game so you turn into a douche and start flinging out random bullshit? whatever.

anyways on topic, he and I and someone else just played CA for a while.. and damn this game is horrible now. Seriously, everything's one shot kill even with headshot condoms (aka helmets)

This game would be so much better if guns were a one time buy, and there was a ton more customization options. It sucks because after a few days you inevitably get stuck back with the m16 no matter how well/ long you play (I'm talking about a normal player, playing an hour or two at one time not all day long.)

Not only am I wasting hard drive space, but also time in general with it if I'm not really being entertained.

Also, I COULD get some money easily still for it, but it's just an annoying little gimmick to make people have to re-buy their weaponry all the time. I don't even see a cash shop right now to buy permanent weapons anyway. If they DO come out with that, it's somewhat understandable, but still annoying as hell.

Besides, I had more fun with APB, and APB bored me pretty quickly. They're both free, lol.

I already had Renegade though. So that's 2 games for the price of one. Oh, and then there's Reborn (Still in the works), AR which is coming out, and a shitton of other things.

Yeah, I'd rather stick with Ren's mod, thanks. Both are free, but Renegade's mods are usually a shitton more fun.

Anyways, you're correct, it is a strategy to keep people playing but it's just done wrong. You should at least be able to get your money back by selling a weapon or piece of equipment, or some shit.

Also, I hate clans and clanwars >:[
