There are a few people affiliated with Crimson who would like to see me not playing this game anymore. I will not name these people directly but I will refer to them in code as "The Body" and "The Grumpy OAP". Leaving no clues as to who they are of course.

These red headed people have nothing better to do with their lives but try and eliminate me from having any fun with this game/community, thus far they are failing. It is clear to me that they do not like me and it goes both ways, however they do have a good friendship with Crimson.

But what is to stop them from asking Crimson to somehow block me from playing Renegade after this patch is released? Frankly, I do not trust Crimson and I think she would follow such order.

Exactly what's stopping them from asking Crimson to block you from playing Renegade now?

I don't know you, I do know Crimson, and although I do not always agree with what she does, I'm pretty sure she wouldn't ban someone just because she doesn't like you... Take these forums as an example, I think she's quite lenient with respect to bans on this forum. If she'd ban who she doesn't like, I think some members would have been banned for ages already.

I know that TT will not have any global ban code though or anything like that though. Noone who owns Renegade will be prevented from playing, so there is no reason to be afraid for that.

Almost sounds like the patch will stop you from playing... Hidding anything? Afraid of the anti-cheat perhaps?

Other then that, you would have already been denied access as others pointed out.

First off let me clarify to everyone I am the person he is talking about. The other person he is referring to (I think) was simply teaching me a few things about mIRC scripting and, like Crimson, has nothing to do with this.

As for the person in question let me clarify something else. I'm not preventing him from playing the game. I'm keeping him out of EVERYTHING n00bstories where he is not welcome. Period. I would justify that but this thread pretty much does that for me.

This wanna be script kiddie thinks he is a bad ass because he downloaded a proxy program and can get around a standard gzline. Well guess what? He isn't "winning" shit. My custom anti-DrasticDR script is more than successful at keeping him out. I would be more than happy to display the line after line of his dumb ass getting teh bant if desired.

Just today he has attempted (unsuccessfully I might add) to gain access to our network 15 separate times. 78 times in total so far since I started my mission.

Guess he forgot to mention that stuff when he posted. I'm sure it was a simple over sight on his part.

liquidv2 wrote on Sat, 04 October 2008 15:08someone tried joining the #DrasticDR room on irc and got zlined by a script made by some n00bstories guy

My anti-DrasticDR script was still a work in progress and very basic at that point. The wrongful gzline was quickly fixed. I'm a n00b when it comes to mlRC scripting and this whole thing has been kinda cool. I wrote this script mostly on my own (with a little help from gkl and jadame along the way) and have learned a lot. It is VERY effective and has zero false positives. I'm pretty proud of it actually. So double win for me!

I don't know anything about whats going on here and I don't want to know but being banned from using the n00bstories network is not such a big thing, n00bless, black intel and jelly all have leafs that connect to it and I for one am not bothered if you use my leafs to connect and would be very pissed off if someone on that has the power on one of the other leafs removes you, luv2pb may have powers on n00bstories but he can not control who connects from any of the other leafs.

Really? That is funny because when we keep the whole network secure from all the spammers/flodders, script kiddies and other general problems I certainly don't here them complaining. I'm pretty sure no one will have an issue with me keeping a cheating, spamming, abusive, exploiting, immature child with a proxy off. It does not matter what he uses to connect. The rules of our network say you are not allowed to connect with a proxy.

I removed this part as I talked to hex about it privatly.

I find it funny Drastic failed to mention how after he was banned, he attempted to call Crimson long distance from Europe to US... in an attempt to be unbanned.

Not to mention the forum posts, irc chats, emails and other shit along with it... after it was fully decided he would not be unbanned.
Harrassment much ?

andr3w, 1 name TartarusMkII

n00bstories players/mods ect were up in arms having him banned from IRC even tho I placed a perm ban and gzline on him after he created thread after thread and kept evading IRC and server bans

If you agree that he can be banned form IRC, that means all leafs then I'll withdraw my above statment and take action if DrasticDR connects from a non n00bstories leaf

Me and Crimson go back a long way, longer than most people here and we have had our ups and downs in the past but as far as IRC goes, it's a public network shared between multiple communities and alot of servers

Being fair works both ways don't you think?

Oh tbh I personally dont care if hes banned or unbanned from the n00bstories IRC network. Im just saying I find it funny how he forgot to mention that part.
And may i mention, Crimson had nothing to do with banning him from the n00bstories renegade server, the server channels, or IRC. She just never overturned any of it.. so by drastic claiming Crimson is going to ban him from all of renegade is rather extreme and completely false.
He got banned from the server by an admin.

(around here is when the phone calls began.)

He harrassed us on the forums, that got him banned.
He harrassed us on irc channels, that got him banned from there.
He continued to harrass us on IRC, even though he was told multiple times to stop, and thats what led luv2pb to do an IRC network ban.

Hex, like I said in our PM the other day I see your point. I don't want you or Jelly banning n00bstories people either. I also said I understand that sometimes complete bans are necessary and that I support them. tbh though I don't think you actually care about this kid. I think you just like being a pain in my ass .

As for drastic, he is getting more creative. He also switched to connecting through Jelly (thanks to Hex lol) and multiple connections. I was going to drop it but then he taunted me (again). I've just been busy and haven't gotten back to it. I know who/where he is I'm just not actually banning. He may be on but he can't do anything or be himself so I'm not to bothered lol.
