- there is a limit on proximity C4 for the technician or Hotwire, don't waste them.- Enemies can steal tanks if you jump out, don't jump out.- Do not attack enemies with the repair gun, it doesn't hurt them.- Don't just go for the expensive guys, everybody has different uses.- don't spam "I need repairs". Say it once and tell people where you are. If they're around, they'll help you out.- Don't go pulling a Rambo on the enemy base, use teamwork, coordinate attacks and defences with teammates, talk to them, you'd be suprised at what outcome you get. Heck, I saw one, and only one, rambo movie. He's sitt'n there on this rock and the general wastes his Machine gun trying to kill him. He chucks that and shoots his pistol ammo at him. At 10 feet away he doesn't hit the dude once. Rambo is just standing there looking at him. I turned the TV off right there. That doesn't work in real life.- You can hit "J" and see what everybody is and if they have a vehicle, try to be something different. You need everybody to win. An army of just one type of guy will die.That's all i can think of right now.

No worries, go into the General Forum and you will find a topic that tells the TRUTH about the "layoffs". No WW projects were effected.The aircraft patch will continue.

besides, if ww even THOUGHT about dropping support and continued add-ons to this game, they would lose all credibility now and in the future. no one would buy another ww game or c&c title because they would think it wouldn't be supported after release...

Since EA and Westwood team up it's been nothing but bad stuff I really don't like EA and they delete this post I don't care that mean's they can't handle the truth.Down with EA espesilly with the firing ok the movie dirctor or some thing like that (still not comfermed) but if they lay him off and fired him thats it for C&C.

I hate to say, but I hope they fix certain issues before anything is "added". I'd like to actually play lag free games first.

The last game I played on WOL was great, no lag whatsoever. Only thing I worry about with the aircraft is flying too high and seriously lagging, because in order to stay out of range of infantry and tanks so you can fly safely to your bombing target before dropping altitude to put yourself in range of it, you need pretty much minimal lag.

They won't fly that high! In fact I heard that they can fly only 100 feet up in the air.

Well, as long as they put down a couple of SAM sites, I guess it's ok.
