Hey guys and girls!

I have a question. I have this skin for my scope, and when i click scope the brightness drops. Can someone change that for me?

ALSO, can someone delete the haze around the sides?

thanks

Basically you want a clear scope...

Most people will give you shit and call it an advantage skin.

I am pretty sure there is more than one version floating around out there.

Seems to me, like it's not a fully colored black in the alpha channel. Simple fix really considering you have photoshop open it up and edit the channel and adjust the grayscale.

i DONT have photo shop, can someone help me out?
All i want is the haze gone and for it to be brighter like the clear scope

here is a good data base <http://jelly-server.com/nuke/modules.php?name=skins>

to get the scope, go here

Check the rules of the server you join in when you use this. Many servers don't allow these advantage skins (or how else would you call a modification giving you a larger view than all others?).
