Well.. I was wondering while playing a game today: What would and armored transport with 10 remotes C4s from teammates st*d to it do? My plan would be to drive it into the other teams base and have them blow up the C4. But since the lack of teamwork in multiplayer i couldn't try it. Anyone tried this? Have theories on it? Think it's stupid and I'm a retarded n00b?

It would likely make your teammates scream at you as their base got stripped of proxy mines because you went 10 mines over the limit. It's not worth the trouble.

I actually found something better when your GDI.Go hotwire, put 4 proxys on the bumper of your friendly tanks, when a flame tank coems up to it BOOM. Works great.Kinda sucks when he goes to run people over..the peopel set them off.

I like to put proxies on Stealth tanks!!Very very good for suprising a tank blockade, drive up to em and the proxies will take down a medium tank easy, best thing is the Stealth Tank stays full health and cloaked!!! Awesome
