Hi guys, Got something to share with you folks. I was playing City the other day in NOD when i chance upon a discovery!!! Using the enemy GDI's harvester as a shield! This is how it works, firstly of course buy a stealth blackhand and a nuke. Be nice and quiet and wait for the enemy harvester to return to base. You would have notice that the harvester actually "hugs" the wall of the game boundry and you can actually walk with the harvester into their base using it as a shield against the godd* gun tower. The * gun would still fire at you as it can still sense it but with luck and care the guns would not take away much health. When the harvester reaches the refinery it will reverse and dump the tiberium. So be careful not to be run over by the harvester! Follow the * harvester in and plant the nuke...heh heh...Refinery down!!!!

Most people already knew that strategy.

Ive tried using harv. for cover b4 but eventually it gets close enough to the tower that the tower can attack downward at you. This was in Under Map, i guess it really depends on the level

It only works in city, but it's a nice tactic, if you're nod.

That's a well known tactic, I use it all the time on city to sneak a tech into the power plant. BOOM!!

why just not drive pass the atg with apc? i've done that, it survives with 50\% hp left when you're at the refanery.

Hi guys, Reason being not using a APC or vehicle to rush is due to the need to be sneaky. Works great on some non-clan online servers where the oppostiion are a bunch of selfish s who neglects defence Trust me i only stealth nuke attack after i become a technician and mine my own base. Well, of course some lame newbie s would not know about the 30 mines limit..adn lay mines on the runway!!! Have u seen this * b4? Regards,
