So say you're on nod in an arty and you aim at a med and target it, then aim at a med on your team that was stolen or something, sometimes it'll still have a red name, but with a green border. It usually happens with Harvs on maps where they both come close together.

I don't think it's easy to fix, and it's not such a big issue, is it? If it turns out to be easy then we will fix it, but don't count on it.

This sometimes happens when moving your cross-hairs from/to an empty vehicle to another occupied one of the opposite team.
