Hello,

I have a favour to ask, basically I own a community called Steam-Gaming and we want to setup a CCTF server, but none of us know how to level edit so I was wondering if anyone here could kindly make me a CCTF script. I would really appreciate it

Regards,

HustlerX

Why are you posting crap like this? Ignore him, Im sure theres a mod for that here that comes with everything. I think its part of the brenbot full installer but not sure.

Not one version of Brenbot has included it, all Crazy CTFs afaik are not downloadable(private).

EDIT: I think SSnipe is thinking of SSGM, though SSGM only includes the regular CTF.

Just mod the objects.ddb with leveledit.

Ehmm yea and set ssgm.ini to ctf.

Maybe you make some extra commands at SSGM

DON'T MOD THE OBJECT.DDB UNLESS IT'S FOR A PKG MAP!!!

If you do this your server won't show up in the server listings so nobody can join your server.

Where you getting that from, because that is not true.

You can easy mod the object.ddb file and still have the server show up in the listings.

afaik:

If you do that, only people with the same objects.ddb can join.

That means that if people who play normal (clean) renegade can't see the server in the listings. People who have the modded object.ddb can see the server but not the normal renegade ones.

I know this from experience with Tiberium Redux. It has a modified Objects.ddb and the server listings are empty if i use the client. Also if i run the Tiberium Redux server i can't see it with normal renegade. This is because the files don't match.

If i run Tiberium Redux i can join the server normally because the objects.ddb match.

You can modify the servers objects.ddb file, clients can still see the server in the WOL server listings screen. I think you might be confused.

Ya your wrong, When you edit a servers objects file it works ok and server has the modifications in it. ONLY when you edit a objects file and put it into your renegade data folder (client) that you play then servers wont show up cause its considered a hack.

SSGM allows you change the extension of your objects files >_<

ssgm.ini->"ObjectsFile=ddb" (Change to your extension)
