Best damn game WS ever made. Though most people don't think it's balanced, I do! It's fun as hell, infact I've played it for 3 hours today. EA needs to make a Red Alert 3, BUT, with none of that RA2 bullshit they had, like apocolapyse tanks. They also need to keep superweapons weak like in RA1, demolition trucks should be available for both teams again. Of course, the new system C&C Generals is nice with the as many war facs as you want, but I think an RA3 should have Con Yards again, but maybe still have that, as many barracks/war fac you have, thats how many you can use at the same time instead of cutting down build time. We need a classic game like RA1 made into a modern graphiced game.

Also, if anyone knows where there is a link or email to EA for sugestions, I would really like to know seeing, as the one for Westwood no longer exists

RA1 was one of the best few games that WW made, but the graphics are now outdated. The games is still good though.

Renegade Alert is your equivalent to Red Alert, combining both the fun factor of Red Alert and the revolutionary multiplayer of Renegade.

When the .600 beta of Renegade Alert was released, I couldn't stop playing. The sounds heard when first spawning, purchasing an upgrade or vehicle at a PT, and everything else just made me feel so much like I was submerged into Red Alert all over again. Trust me, if you liked Red Alert, you'll LOVE Renegade Alert.

If they're even planning on one, it better not be Sci-Fi Time Travel Sh!t like RA2. Anyway, i doubt we can expect to see plans anytime soon.

I would personally like to see a remake of RA, new graphics, new missions, new characters, same war. If they make a RA3 it will make the story line from Red Alert to Tiberium even more confusing.

I once made barrels buyable, and build a wall of them around my base. When I shot them, they blew up, but didn't dissappear, and kept blowing up forever! Enemy infantry couldn't get through i loved RA1 i played the hell out of it. one funny thing i did was to build as many infantry as i could. then you put them all in a giant square. next you nuke them right in the middle of the formation. if done right you'll get an initial "heh" or whatever the troop says when he dies. you'll then rapidly get a "heh" from all the remaining troops that will last for about 15 seconds. you can also try the same thing but with a nuke truck (or nuke trucks causing a chain explosion) in the middle of them.
