I want to make a program but outa idea's so I'm asking you guy's to help me out.

What kinda program should it be?

What should be on the program?

I'm sure you guy's will come up with more.

I am using Visual Basic 6

Create a new system like GSA and make it compatible with as much as possible games. Oh, and make it without bloat and advertizing as well :+

Make a program that allows you to select directories on your HDD that are encrypted and password protected and copied over to your USB drive each time you link your USB drive, in a directory which name is based on the current date/time.

---

Then give it to me 'cause I'm looking for one of these .

@Altzan:lol thanks but idk if i could do thos.

@reborn:What are you talking about?

@EvilWhiteDragon:Is it an OS? If so I'm not that far into programming yet.

@Goztow:Explain that a little more.

I have backups as zip files on my HDD and each time I link my USB drive to the PC, I'd want a program running in the background to recognize this USB drive, to start encrypting the files in the backup folders, put a password on them which I configured and transfer them to the USB drive in a folder named "<date/time of this moment>".

That way my backup method becomes really save and full automatic.

@reborn:What are you talking about?

Unless I'm thinking of someone else, you was working on a pokemon game. I was wondering what happened to it. I might of dreamed it :-S

[edit]

Nope, you was working on it:
