actualy this video card is not so cool, because its 2 cores (almost all games uses only 1 core and second core is just pointless (waste of money)

i got choose, gtx 280 or Radeon X2... i get gtx 280

The video card is the best video card on the market, every review you read online will tell you this, it's clock speed is faster then anything out there, it's got more RAM then anything else and it's acts as two graphic cards but as one, so when you get two together, you have a quad setup.

So yes, this two cores together is better then one, that is the whole point of it.

i think geforce cards usually have a better memory clock speed and core clock depending on which manufacturer you get the card from.

I'm not too geeky with comps and specs, how good is a Nvidia Geforce 8600M GS?

I could read about it but it wouldn't make any sense.
