So, what's your 2009 wish-list with regards to Renegade, Renegade forums, ...

Personally my first and highest on the list would be for TT to be released and functional without any game breaking bugs.

Secondly it would be nice for a certain well known cheat forum to go down for a few months again due to _unknown_ reasons but that's probably wishful thinking.

I hope our mod community can also continue thriving like it currently is and that Renegade may stop losing players to other games .

So, what are your wishes for the new year?

-Reborn vehicle beta to be released.

-RP2 to have another release.

-TT to be released.

-For me to actually get off my ass and try to work on a mod I've been semi working on but never really got around to doing much with

-Less trolling on renforums

For Renegade:

- That i finish my Roleplay map
- That i finish all my Scripts
- That Apocalypse Rising releases, i dont care about reborn anymore
- That RP2 make a final version
- TT Patch release
- That i can join RP2 if they want me

Not Renegade:

- That i stop drinking to much
- That i will learn to make awesome Weapon Textures
- That i will finish all my Mods (No Serverside Mods)

Uhh and much more!

ren:

release of tt patch and that it will be mandatory, no patch no game that all those mods of ren may die a instant death cos this game is dead enough on his own and last thing it needs is the remaining community to go to 521214 different mods of this game ;/

- Several mods to be completed.
- A new script set that is friendly with older computers.
- More awesome skins released by members of the forum.

- My skills (if they can be called that) in modeling and skinning to improve
- Less n00bs in Renegade (wishful thinking)

That's about it...

That is my wish too...several gaming companies have sold their home-grown series and have come back in later years to rebuy the licence.

EA is so screwed up the C&C series...I have C&C3, KW...all lying inside boxes cuz they so damn boring.

They will probbaly use C&C to get the temporary cash (like with RA3)...

Hi Orca!

I have heard rumors in some server communities and also generally in the TT forums in the early skin topics. I am reading them all now for the next hour or so lol....

I understand to catch skin abusers, skins must be controlled but I NEVER use abuse skins. I never snipe and even if I did I never use a sniper skin with red head and blue body...you know what I mean?

So the good people should not suffer for the crimes (if you can call that!) of the few. It's like the gun control issue; don;t take away my ability to use my shotgun just cos neighbor is going around killing with his shotgun.

I know TT will do the best but the whole "server-side "list" of allowed skins" idea creeps and scares the heck out of me...just imagine driving around with the default texture Mammy? LOL? I want my own custom Great Soviet Union Moscow Elite Guards mammoth skin lol. Heck my ren has so much skins (all acceptable) I don;t even know how many are there.

And then there's the issue Di3 brought up with the W3D models. Sure with the patch, no more sexy dance club techno trance Barracks that Di3 made.

And putting a option for servers to allow skins or not won't really work though it would be good for sniper servers; but still it will take away the rights of a honest Ren sniper who uses a accepted sniper skin.

So this is my whole worry at this point. But I think even with these options, the decision will rest with the communities to allow it or not if they got an option.

where did i say I will leave? So ur implying people should stay even if custom skins/modding is crippled or taken away? It's a part of Ren to have custom skins. If not allowed, then you turn off Ren for many.

Every game that has modding capabilities has survived to this day, including Doom. Yes, many play still.

The idea is to keep people from leaving a dying game, not making it a holy sanctuary so CW type dicktators like urself can force purist crap on people who play ren after coming home from a long hard day's work.

Protip: Servers can say "I don't care what models/HUD the user plays with" already. Some servers do want that level of control over their players and RenGuard did offer it ("Pure" mode). The difference between what RenGuard and the TT patch is doing is simple. RenGuard forces you to remove all your models/textures/skins/huds/etc before you are allowed to play on a Pure mode server, while the TT patch simply doesn't load them if the server disallows them.

@ Hitman

A rant but your are wrong to say modding has not done anything. C&C Mode is why I play this game still and having the ability to change small things like skins is a good bonus imo, albeit a necessary one.
