

---

Subject: Fight Against Your Own Team ?

Posted by Anonymous on Sat, 30 Mar 2002 12:03:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Can you believe that, yes it's a good way at times to help you win? Ok, your on hourglass and you and another Hotwire are taking charge of base defenses, you mine the AGT and outer tunnel area, all looks good, you find the other hotwire has mined the roadways and hand Nod and Airport, your thinking ok whatever, then you way back to the refinery to do a repair and find the place crawling with mines, what the hell is he thinking, of coarse I immediately start towards AGT and sure enough I see lighting as AGT mines disappear as insignificant mines are being place form here to kingdom come, luckily I just got in AGT and hit my refill and turn around there is a enemy vehicle blocking door, I was able to lag a quick load of mines before beggars got inside. Ok long and boring story, sorry, but!! This is how you must fight against your team mate, firstly mine steady like a pyhco and hope that he will see his mines go to smoke and maybe one day he'll wonder what's up. As most know oldest mines disappear first, so you can destroy all of his mines. You say why worry, because I've done it, left base defenses to a newbie and gone hunting and enemy wins everytime almost.

---