Down here also.

Ironwarrior, have you tried refreshing? You might have loaded a cached version.

Still working for me both in FF and in IE.

You guys must be having DNS issues in your side of the world, should fix itself afterwards.

The site is still hosted on the old server, but we have everything saved to ours, so if it does really go down, everything is saved and we get it all online asap.

The new site is almost ready, but it's lots of work for me since I have to move some downloads over.
