I know Goztow has contacted you about adding a special forum/section for Mod Release next to the existing Mod Forum (section). Alot of people like this idea, but ofcourse its up to you together with the staff to decide.

I'd like to know if there is a chance that it will happen?
Anyways thanks for you time, and keep up the good work!

Ok let's not turn this into a stupid quote spam. Atleast say why you support it.
I support it as it would be nice to have a bit more organization. Plus, for people looking for mods rather than questions, they can just go to the release section.

The other section should be mod questions and answers.

Not only it'd be a good database, but it'd be available to an active community that can give feedback on the mods. Personally, I don't see any cons for this.

That's my opinion in a nutshell as well. It would be more organized and user-friendly, instead of mixing releases and questions in the same section.

Canadacdn for moderator '09?

Well, she's very busy in RL, but she does check now and then. It just takes her a few weeks to reply on any question, really . I hope this will be done, it seems like a good idea to me. If it becomes reality, I'll need people to report releases so I can move them .

I support this idea, would make things easier to find. I remember spending a long time hunting through the mod forum looking for things before.

The more you go on about it the less likely it is to happen....

I think it's a good idea, and with mods like Ren-X around, I say they deserve a special section so we don't have to scroll through the many topics in the Mods forum to find them.

I would think you would love it the most since you got to go thru crap to find mods and skins and such to put them up on the site lol

It'd be cool, but I would prefer to see it managed siliar to the community news forum/ i.e you have to submit it before the thread is published.

I support this idea, I think it'd actually be a great thing for mods to have.

I agree with both points what dp said

I also agree with reborn's pov - otherwise it'll be just one more place for spamming. :/
