Haha... I was just in a game on Field, and I was a mobius with a nuke in a hummer... I drove up to the Hand of Nod while the obelisk was buisy shooting a mammy... Some stupid Nod guy opened the door, and to my surprise, I was turned at the right angle, and I drove in with my hummer. (After squishing him of course...) I proceeded to plant the nuke on the pedestal, and once it was planted, I hopped back in my hummer... Everyone who tried to defuse it or hurt me got squished... Then in another game, I noticed there was an apc rush coming to our base on Hourglass... I quickly bought another hummer, and drove it into the unmined AGT... The Nod techies and engies could not get in and accused me of cheating once they died... LOL...

yah, when are those guys gonna learn that all's fair in love and war! anything outside of hacking the game to allow you to cheat is ok. instead of calling you a cheater, they should be learning what to do the next time they get rushed! and it's too bad characters in game don't have facial expressions cuz i would have loved to see the look on their eyes when you were inside their HON with a hummer! lol...
