This is very simple and effective but I dont see to many people doing it. Shoot through a door so it hits the inside of abuilding. YOu can hit most of the MCT in buildings by shooting through a door. YOu might also hit and engi tryin to hamper you efforts by repairing the building. No some of the buildings are harder to hit the MCT from outside, i.e. Barraks and hand of nod. But for the barraks you can still hit it, you just have to fire at the right angle. Trust me this works really well.

Unsportsmanship??? What the hell you talkin bout boy?FOr the 1 question tanks can't open up doors, but ppl have to respawn or run back in the building all the time. And even if its isnt open just keep shooting.

Unsportsmanlike - I don't think so! Just more efficient, hehe. And smart - especially if it's the last building still alive and it's full of engines. Gotta clear them out and I'm sure not gonna get out of my tank to do it...

usually they leave the door open for you while they repair the mct. Same can go for infantry too like rocket soldiers just aim on the inside to get splash dam on mct
