Boy do I hate those guys that are good at getting out of the way of my Medium tank...some people are very very good at this. I think it's just practice, experience, and more practice. Too bad you can't practice that in Multiplay practice though.

ha multi play practice is a joke!!! one thing i can suggest though is don't get online until you take out that nod base completely before time runs out! or get online get a feel then practice on taking nod base out in time limit!at least it will help you get a sense of the game with multiplayer but the only way is to just jump into a game online unfortunatly for good players everyone has to be a newbie at some point!!i had a tank stuck once in between a light post and enemy building i just couldn't get it out one enemy was killing my tank other enemy was engineer repairing my tank! i would have been there all day finally committed suicide----another question does the tank die with you when you do this! i think it does but if anyone can comfirm this??

I find that getting headshots is easy. Exp. for guns like automatic rifle and such. I get a ton of kills as sniper/reg. grunt. I find it kinda hard to dodge tanks. Exp. fast ones. I get alot of kills squishing people as well.

general then i have a question?is it just a feel of the game or do you have something specific you do like a key command that may not be in the control menu?like i know that hitting a & w will make you go foward and sideways at the same time are people not using a mouse and keyboard? if i had one of those hand held control paddles for sega nintendo playstation it would be easy to jump around like that and avoid things thats why i am asking for what it is that YOU do that makes it easier for you to play good people shouldn't think their strats or moves should be kept secrets because if other players know them, then it just means the game play gets better!! and better more challanging games!! so come people what do you do to get the good shot, out run the tank, jump into and through enemy defenses?

well, as far as going through mines i like to go the farthest fromt the mines like alway to the left, this way you avoid most of them and manage to slip through the mine defense. As far as tank dodging gos, i really only get squishied when i try to run up and c4 a tank. I find that if you fake a little to either direction the go the other it makes the tank driver swerv that direction and you get away. I cant help you as far as squishing people go's, i'm terrible at it!

no i disagree plant 3 mines in door(s) one on each side of mct(in theory some only have one side)far enough away to not blow the two below mct it should stop any infantry rush planting mines out in the field is a waste

And if your a paid class, aim for the head, and shoot from left to right back to left to right etc. If rockets, aim for the feet.Tank to soldier: this one is harder, since most infantry units are designed to take out tanks... they are smaller so hard to hit... Aim for the feet and thank splash damage... try to anticipate your ennemy moves, since it takes some time to the bullet to get to destination...Thats about it!

If a tank is trying to run me over...I run backwards (so to keep them in view), and strafe LEFT...they think im trying to circle and they adjust their heading to head me off and squish me...I keep strafing LEFT, and then at the last moment I strafe RIGHT. Now I am next to the tank and its pretty easy to avoid it. I keep firing the entire time too, and usually once their health is in the red they give up and drive away, at which time my planted timed C4 goes off and finishes them off.

Also, ALWAYS zigzag when you are running...ALWAYS! You never know when a sniper has you in his sights! Also, if someone is chasing you and firing, when they are reloading you can hit your change direction key and cap them in the head with your pistol yah, some of you guys are just d@mn good at dodging tanks. i'm about medium at it i suppose, but not that great. i've been squished many times. to me that ranks only slightly behind being sniped on the "p*ssed me off" scale. but it's part of the game. if you're having a problem with swatting those li'l infantry "flies", then back off and shoot em or just ignore them and return to destroying the base. often, when you stop manuevering they do too and they get sloppy. such as, i'll be motionless with a flame tank firing up a building, then i move backwards suddenly and i'll squish somebody trying to plant c4 on me. lol...

1. I switched c and left shift around because I'm use to having control for duck.two, I got as good as I am from personal experince. I can take out a basic infantry with a pistol alot. It's kinda cool actually, I'm also good at getting corner shots with the sniper rifles.Currently, I'm trying to see how to use the gernade launcher at it's best. So far, City is a good map for it if you cuck gernades off the bridge, flame tanks can't even hit you!Oh, always move when attacking, if you both staff in the same direction, you should notice head shots are easy to get since you both go at the same speed. But try not to do this because they also get the advantage.All I can really say it's personal skill that I gained since I played QWTF and TFC.

hey a lot of things that i have read work good especially the left to right firing in infantry battles it for some reason gets me more shots inpractice is the key (no pun intended)now that i have thought about it more it is pretty difficult to describe what you do once a foot battle is on.....you just do what you can to jump crouch and bounce out of the way and shoot while doing this also!! i guess i just have to play a few more hundred games lol!!!

To kill people with your tank, they can runcircles around a tank yes, but try to back up and get some distance from them and shoot them or if they chase you do a quick forward and try running them over or sometimes I get lucky and back over them as they circle me, they're like a F in misquito very annoying.It's even annoying spelling misquito???
