its called the..... KAMIKAZEIt's very simple. You need to be a engy and someone who co-operates with you. Firstly, both of you go to your PT. Place ur remote-C4's on your friend's body, refill and place again. repeat this a very long time. then, both of you go together somewhere. if you see the remote c4's on your friends body disappearing suddenly, dun fret. Its still there but its sort of become invisible thus making it easier for you to kill unsuspectible enemies. Go together with your friend but do not stay close to your friend. when you see a nice time to detonate, detonate and see the nice effect. once, using this tactic, i asked my friend to go to the obelisk of light as we were all rushing them with APC, there were like 4 engys repairing the obelisk when i detonated the c4s, a terrible damage was done to the obelisk, it was like going to be destroyed in very few more shots. and those 4 guys got BOINKED. Well, whoever places the C4's gets the points so it is important to get someone who does not mind you getting the points. and to make things more fair, you be the kamikaze soldier and let your friend put c4's on you. And one word of caution, when it is exploding, you may face the dreaded LAG

hey, maybe that was you putting c4s on me in a game the other night. i was an engie repairing one of the buildings at the mt when another engie starts throwing remote c4s on me, buying 2 more, doing it again, etc. but he never said what he wanted me to do. anyway, i finally decided to go outside and find a target to get next to. he blew the c4s and some poor enemy inf bit the dust. very funny. lol...

Maybe I can elaborate on that. What happens if you stick the remotes on a Stealth Black Hand. You have him sneak into the enemy base and stand next to the MCT and type a signal to you. On his signal you blow the Remote C-4. If you had 8 or so on him that could cause some massive damage to that MCT if not destroy it, then the Stealth Black Hand can have some fun running around the now powerless enemy base since you just blew their Power Plant.

Sorry to burst your "I think I am the Man" bubble but these strats are weak and will only work in game vs retarded players and/or small amount of players and with no base defense..I would know, I been top 50 4 weeks in a row these tactics will never stand a chance in a 32 player game with good players.

*pop!*Bursts bubble....Placing remote c4s takes away from the total c4 count of thirty, meaning that for every c4 that you pop on a guy one mine goes away. So either wast the mines killing a guy or defend the base. Also when you place c4 on a stealth the c4 is still visable... meaning that if you see floating c4 approaching you would probably shoot it.....mmmmmmm floating c4 mmmmmm.....

Remote C4, proximity C4 - doesn't matter, it all comes out of the same max per team C4 count. As they say, "you can look it up."
