I saw this little thing in the game and dont know what it is. It was a veichal (bad spelling) of some sort but its not in the menu. Also i read something about pressing F8 and typing 'e' space 'fnkqrrm' in game. Am i close to discorving what tis thing i saw was or does that command do nothing coz i didnt see anything new. Anyone know what im on about or have i had too much beer again. P.S. sorry about the spelling, too much beer.

yes, it was the beer truck. it has to be low to the ground to keep enemy guys from destroying it before the beer can get to the frontlines. imagine going into battle with no beer. makes me shutter just to think about it!...

The cool part is that you get Duff Man with the truck, so when you die, you get the character of Duff man to play around with. These two scantily clad chicks pop out, too, and start dancing for GDI, which has the effect of automatically drawing them out of their Mammy's, leaving them free for the stealin'. I heard they originally wanted to use Spuds MacKenzie as the extra character in the vehicle, but they couldn't get the rights. Guess Matt Groening is better about that kinda stuff.
