Well since there are so many skins and models around and people using them, we should each show off what our Renegade looks like with all these different skins on.

So im going to start.

GDI skins; I didn't make the Infantry skin and TBH I don't know who did (if anyone can tell me then that would be great).

And also for Nod and their pretty base.

Di3hard made the Turret and the lights on the HON. And Galumin did the stealth effect skin.

So lets see some screenshots.

Oh and to thoes who think its funny to post a screenshot with no skins at all, then go ahead but you will only waste time and space.

This is about skins

I propose we all ignore the advantage skins in this topic. It'll be a great source of info for the server owners that don't like those skins anyway .

I currently use no skins at all.

I put that there on purpose, was hoping someone would ask Small track. would be nice if someone made an actual racing map for renegade.

Map is called C&C_Heros_Circuit

Yup that one is fun to. You race to the end of the map and plant a beacon on the enemy's ped to win

Here's cute racing map I found. First pic will show you the teeth then you race threw the veins then into the body. It gets boring real fast but its fun to see for the first time. There's also some brown things floating in air and a brown pool of water. I can only guess what that might be.

You can find this map on stalkers site.

Im sure i could have easily manually resized the images to work at whatever resolution i play at, or resize the images through code in shaders.dll.. but once again, lazyness kicked in.

I was also planning on making the "Boxes" of players into little images etc ... maybe some day lol.

TBH i would release the source code for this part (not the building bars)but

1. People cry advantage
2. Can easily edit the code to show .. well everything on the map

3. It includes a simple class i wrote for keypresses, which in turn can be used for other stuff if a person desired.

If we could release shaders.dll compiled with no source, then i would release then but until I make my stuff into a secondary DLL or something it would be released publically edit--

Also the building bars, mapoverlay were written in seperate classes much like that of the code saberhawk released.. so it can all be easily incoporated into your own shaders.dll + hud.ini files

It looks better without borders yes

Would it be possible to make different icons for every character people are using? That would be even more cool lol if you want to get the birds eye view of characters and/or vehicles then yes, we could

TBH the code to do that isn't the problem for me, its the patience of actually getting all those birds eye screenshots needed lol

AND SO THAT MAKES ME SUPAR SPECIAL!!!!!!!!!!!!1111!!11!!!!11111!!

jk m8

Well, I removed like ALL my skins today and it's weird how different everything looked lol...well I was reinstalling my Ren due to stoopid scripts corruption and it feelt strange to see thew original skins. The Orca especially lol...I am so used to my pink Orca.

big c4 hax

why cause its yellow?? like that's ever helped me
I don't get why you want your Ren to look fugly like that then..

each their own. i've had several tell me its awesome looking. I believe the topic is post your ren screen shots. be a pretty boring thread if everyone had the standard ren setup.

More screenshots here

And now for Grass C&C Under at Night Time!
And PROPER C&C City since the original in my opinion lacks certain elements that this screenshot now has.
