Ok just 2 days ago I guess is when this started, I haven't installed or started using any new programs so I have no idea how this started.

Here's the problem, every time I try to run a game in full screen mode it just minimizes and then when I maximize it it minimizes again and it just continues, so far the only way I am able to fix this is restarting my computer, anyone have any ideas what might cause this(/me wishes to play Ren in full screen again)?

Is it just games or does it do it with lets say Video full screened?

Nope just for games.

EDIT: It seems random now

It seems random now meaning what? You need to give a bit more explanation of whats happening. If you load a game and dont touch anything after doubling clicking on the icon does it minimize.. Try and give as much detail as possible.

Random as in it just randomly decides to make this problem, what it does is: I start it up then it just minimizes, then I maximize it and it minimizes again and then it just goes on, sometimes after a while if it's open and I try to maximize it it doesn't do it(try counting all of the its).

Well the only thing I can think of is that something that you're running has been set to 'On Top' and everytime you try and load the game the other program cuts in.

It could possibly be the sidebar then, but that's been open with ren before and hasn't caused this problem

EDIT: I think I found what's causing it: Skype 4
