What makes you think anyone at a C&C Renegade forum gives a fuck about you breaking the rules to swear by saying "gives a fuck" for no apparent reason. Your post was pointless and has no value.

Except for the fact that swearing isn't against the rules here.

I'm entirely within my rights to point out that noone really cares about your forum and maps for some game that's entirely unrelated to Renegade.

Are you 100% sure that there is not a single member here other than me who likes Alien, Predator, or AvP? If not, then you shouldn't say anything.

Maybe you should leave these forums and advertise somewhere else.

We really don't give a fuck about your websites and besides that, this is a C&C RENEGADE COMMUNITY.

Have a nice day!

This'd be more interesting if it, y'know, was in a forum relating to AVP, or you were a fairly well known modder within the community to have gained trust and such to know it's apparently a quality product.

Shit, I might aswell go to a Church then try to talk to them about converting to Islam.

Ok. I think some form of adjustment to the rules concerning advertising might be needed. This isn't the topic for it though. Go start a discussion in Heated Discussions.

Some members of this forum may be interested, but it's not likely - so try not to post random adverts.

He simply wants links to his free forum on popular sites so google gives him a better index. Therefor, all his posts have been removed and his account will be banned.

Owned. We ought to do something about the lack of a rule about advertising though.

Good job.

If you looked through his posts he'd contributed absolutely nothing here. One of his first posts was him angrily questioning why these forums existed. Everything else (except for one, where he was asking about some game nobody fucking knew about) was him advertising his forums.

And nothing of value was lost.

Clear your already tarnished record by actually contributing to discussions or to the Renegade community in whole, and you most likely will not get banned.

If I may ask, what compelled you to bring an AVP2 related thing here anyways?
