It's a rare bug, but a bug regardless. Sometimes, when you join a game that's already loading the next map (or something like that, I'm not 100% sure how to reproduce it) you might see a player on the opposite team that he really is.

For everyone else, it works just like normal. When this happens, you get kill messages like "xxx treasonously killed yyy". To my knowledge there's no actual difference in gameplay or anything - it's just a visual bug. But sometimes a very confusing one.

Anyway, if you stay on the server it goes away when the player in question (luigi in my screenshot) changes teams. So it could go on like that for multiple maps.

Fixable? Fixed?

I've seen this a couple times as well... I'm assuming the picture that you have there is just for an example, because Luigiverg's name is showing up on the list as GDI as well, where as when it usually happens to me, the name shows up right in the score display, and just the wrong color on the character.

Yeah, however we do not know how to reproduce. That and the fact that it happens very rarely makes it hard to find the cause and fix it, or even attempt to. If anyone knows how to reproduce/when this happens, we could try though.

Actually, each time it's happened to me their display on their character AND their player list entry is wrong.. :/ lol

Also, I've only encountered this once or twice with Normal Renegade (1.037 and Scripts 3.4.4). With RR, I've seen this more often tbh, though still rare in itself...

Same thing with the team kill glitch with vehicles (firing the weapon and exiting before the projectile collides with the object you're targeting): I've been able to reproduce it more and more with RR, however with Normal Ren (1.037+3.4.4) I don't notice it as much.

I've noticed it happened most when a player joins just at the end of a map. So let's say under ends, players joins while Volcano is loading. The player gets the players list of Under, including the team he would have been on while in reality, he's on Volcano in the other team.

I wonder if he wouldn't get the wrong player ID...

also most of the time the player he gets the id from, leaves when under ends, so there is a free slot but on the players screen there's not StealthEye, if you maybe sent the player type more often, it might fix it. (Given that it's only sent in *_Rare.) Just an idea.

I have and this saw a teammate that was yellow in his name like the ss and showed up as the enemy team expect he was on our team also one where my teammate chat was showing up as yellow... when I was on nod

This has happened to me 9 times out of 10 in the last week of playing. It mostly happens in aow WHILE I'm running RR. I have never noticed this happen while I wasn't running RR. Seeing as how this guy isn't running RR, it couldn't be an effect that RR has or could it?

Someone plays too much Renegade.

j/k, good job if you indeed have.
