Yeah i forgot the name of this awesome Game. You had to choose a Car (every car had Diffrent abillitys) and you could grant powerups and shot down enemy cars (no race game it was DM) also every car had a own superweapon, by picking up a special powerup you got your superweapon. I really cant remember the name maybe someone could help me

NOTE: Its a CAR DM not a Tank DM game!

It's for Xbox 360. I think you download it from the marketplace.

I still pull V8 and V8:2nd Offense out every once in a while. They were great games but 2nd Offense had some glitchy problems relating to the N64 Expansion Pack. Still a great game. My favorite was to play as the tow truck in V8 2nd Offense because the special ability allowed you to hook onto another person and at the end fling them, you could do so much environmental damage it was way over powered. One of the maps you were at a nuclear power plant and so you could fling them directly into the reactor containment vessel causing a small nuclear explosion almost completely wiping out their health bar.
