Currently, when you add game.exe in steam, and try to launch, it will result in the standard windows error. (Program has encountered an error and needs to close)

Could this be fixed please?

By the way, I could not find a crashdump related to this.

I get the samme problem too. Even with Game2.exe.
I'm not the only one.
Maybe you guys can fix this in your fancy new patch? lol

Its easier for alot of people who have all thier games launch through steam,Instead of having a million shortcuts on your desktop.

Plus theres a chat you can use ingame,and can start groups and shit with chat rooms. easier to find cws with I think.

woot thanks,that would be great.

Hmm, eat my CPU (which I have plenty to spare) or randomly crash my game. I think I'll take the first option.

EDIT:

I added Renegade to Steam via "Add non-Steam game..." button, pointed it to a Renegade install with scripts 4, and I can confirm that launching Renegade via Steam does not crash on this Vista Ultimate x64 install.

Excellent. Could anyone else from TT confirm this for XP though?

(I'd want to test it if needed, but I don't think you're up for that )

I cannot confirm this for Renegade specifically, but launching the Red Alert: A Path Beyond Gamma internal version (which uses scripts 4.0) does not crash when launched through Steam on Windows XP 32bit. If someone could confirm that RA:APB Beta 1.2.0 crashes or not when launched through Steam this might answer the Renegade question.

I can confirm that Renegade with scripts.dll 4.0 does work with Steam, and crashes with 3.4.4.

Nope

In Steam -> View -> Settings -> In-Game -> Uncheck Enable Steam Community In-Game

But that;s the part of steam I like,to be able to chat with people playing different games while ingame.

We just want to use Steam, because we can SHIFT+TAB in-game and chat with anyone who is online, playing any game or just wanking at their Steam screen.

Thanks Saberhawk
