A few tips on how to get high scores really easily: 1) never stop shooting, u can rack up lots of points just by holding down the trigger of a gun or having your tank constantly fire. Even if you don't hit an object directly you can still get points from blast radius damage. 2) Shoot at objects which will yeild the greatest points/shot. Such as shooting at a harv. vs. a tank. If you shoot at the tank it will give you more points 3) Learn to have your tanks and units last long amounts of time on the battle feild, such things include being a tech/hotwire or engi. while in a tank. Due to this you can do self repairs. Also learning the priority of what to shoot at, such as shooting at units which can do damage to you vs. units which do not do damage. 4) Learn to "trace" or have your weapon fire ahead of a moving target such that you can have your bullet/tank shell hit the enemy vehicle when it moves 5) The last main tip I have to pass on is learn the distance to which your unit can fire a shot, such as learning that Mammoth missles have limited range (this is more for my own benefit since I'm rather sick of seeing people use Flame Tanks on units miles away or using the Mammoth missles rather than the tank shells ). Have anyother tips to add to how to get a really high score?? Feel free to add 'em

1. GDI should get turrets
2. the Ob and AGT should be changed to be more evenly used (now its AGT-infantry, Ob-vehicles)
3. Mammoth Tank cheaper OR enhanced with normal price
4. No flaw in stealth tank design and no de-stealth if get off when in stealth mode before getting off
5. Stealth Units in GDI OR anti-stealth units
6. More covered areas for sniping
7. Large "Tunnels" for vehicles these are the modifications I'd like to see, what are yours??

Amen to that, ACK. Other than that I agree with everything. People should use the freebie units more often, too. The shotgunner owns everyone at close range, and the minigunner is incredibly accurate even at a distance which makes it easy to get headshots with. Also, what I always be sure to do is to throw my C4 before I die. You'd be surprised how often you get magical kills from your C4 lying on the ground somewhere, or how many points you get by taking a fat chunk out of that Mammoth that ran you over. Especially with the free units, don't be afraid to throw yourself at a vehicle, C4 in hand. If you die, it's not like you lose any money or points, and you can stand to gain a lot when you have no regard for your own health most of the time.

You won't get any points if you team loses, so if you manage to get 1000+ spare dollars buy your team as many tanks as you can (medium and light only!). You have no idea how many times my team just doesn't buy tanks on field, and I buy 5 tanks for my team and we end up taking it.

I've done that before after a good damage run that lasted a long time which left me with about 4500. I bought 5 flame tanks and told my teammates that I was doing it (so they know to take the tanks, you be surprised how long it can take to get someone to take it sometimes!) We rushed the base and destroyed it, something we were too poor as a team to do otherwise. Victor

Not bad ideas but GDI getting a stealth unit is stupid, its not as hard as you think to spot a stealth tropper and gdi has patch and he can drop any infantry in no time. Also the more sniping cover idea isnt so hot, its most maps there is about 4 or 5 places to look for a sniper and by the time i check 3 of those spots for a sniper i get sniped.

There are already too many useless snipers crowding the maps... They do something useful, but your team does not need friggin 4 of em... One can do the job... GDI does not need turrets, and stealth units are easy to find if your team puts up a decent defense... (Mobius, Sydney (Non PIC), and Patch are the GDI anti-stealth units anyway)... The base defenses are even as it stands. Only a bad GDI team would get overpowered by Nod vehicles, barring a well-done flame rush, and only a bad Nod team would get overpowered by a GDI infantry rush. If Nod had the AGT, they would get Owned by the mummies, and if GDI had the OB, they would get owned by infantry rushes...

I like the idea of separating the machine guns and rockets from the AGT. I'd like to see standard turrets with machine guns and the AGT with just rockets. Might help to balance out the separation of turrets and obelisk on Nod side.

The mammoth tank is fine the way it is: big, slow, and strong. The price is consistent with the other C&C games. Leave it be. I'd rather see additional units than changes to the ones that everyone has already gotten used to.

The mammy expense is also balanced. It is meant to only be used by a person who had an excess of money. If they powered up the mammy, then even one person in one would dominate any other unit. WW is trying to keep the power/player for each side roughly the same.

The most useful time to enact the kamakazi run is when your opponents are all holed up in one building, repairing, and you've got a bunch of vehicles pounding away uselessly at it. Load up one guy with tons of remote c4 all over him, and send him into the enemy structure. He walks up to the MCT, gives the signal, and BOOM...all the enemy engies/techs/hotwires that were dilagently repairing the structre are so much wallpaper.

bah, that doesn't help at all, just do the following. get a tech, go to there back entrance, take out just enough mines to squeeze through. Then get a stealth suit and a beacon, squeeze through the mines. Time to play the waiting game. Wait untill you have the perfect moment to jog through to the back of a building, try to make it one at the back of the base (where the least people come too), plant it in a dark corner, stand on it, engi comes, he cant disarm it because your in the way, then you kill him (note: you will proly die everytime you do this, but it works). Then when the nuke goes look for an empty vehical hop in and ride to your base and watch noobies shoot at you, get another nuke and infiltrate the base with your new vehical. In the case you cant find a vehical, try to get inside and building and plant all your c4's on it (the MCT) but dont shoot it (because they will come and find the bombs) then just kill anyone who comes in, after the bomb goes off and the building is still alive, shoot the MCT. Now i know this is REALLY hard to do. But it keeps me in 1st place mostlyNOTE: THIS ONLY WORKS WITH NOD (NO DUH!)

Use grenade launchers or flame throwers in the beginnig of the game to take out the harvesters. They do more damage and don't cost anything.

and repair.....Remember not to spend too long out of your tank repairing.... if you do short repairs it will help to stop stealths from taking the tanks . Also hitting the harv from close range is risky the better thing to do is to get the power up (if possible) and then go out and hit the harv. with just a reg. soldier u get a 70+ cred. cash boost which can really give you an edge. The c4 on the floor is a good idea but if you place them in high traffic areas that will increase your likelihood of getting kills. Mini-gunners are garbage I can hit them so easily and even if i die when I'm a soldier they will die soon enough since I can take off half their health before the kill me..... So you think the pay off of all the cred.s/points I get is worth the 1 he gets? nope it isn't so why not just save up for a med. or a light tank and not waste money on the expensive units and let the noobs do that?

Mines on a vehicle doesn't only work as a powerfull weapon it also acts a steal protection from the other team.Say you are out on the battle field and you are the only tech out there and you have to get out to fix your last mammothtank then if sombody from the other team tries to steal your vehicle then the mines will explode and if they doesn't destroy your vehicle it will definitely cripple it so it will be easier to destoy.HATE CARTHEEVES!!!

The question is.. are those mines more useful on a tank or as part of the base's defense? Since you can only have 30 placed mines per team, I personally prefer to use them to protect the base.

ok but if you just cant get anyone to place some mines and you are storming a base to plant a beacon and you leave your vehicle outside a building and someone likes to steal I can bet they will take it without looking for anything wierd and then BOOOOM!!!A good way to ensure you get the time to plant the nuke is ofcourse to do what the dirty tricks manual on the westwood homepage say and plant your mines in the entrance to the enemy building so that if somebody knows where you are they will kill themselves trying to get to you oh so I'm the little 12 year old whose getting off to having a good rank and getting off to the face that I 'think' I'm good at a pc game?? who is the one who brought up the stats from a game when he/she/it got a higher score than me??.... who is the one who is posting replies???.if you don't care and play for fun then why reply and give your opinion??? I started this to let people know how and why I get such a high score every game.... not so that I could inflate my ego.... and you supposidly play none 32-40 player games as often?? why oh is it cuz youre affraid to play better players??? oh but I forgot you play for fun....well I highly doubt that its more like you play small games so that you have a great chance of playing people who have no skill..... and you claim to play for 'fun' its more like you get gratification out of beating up people who don't know how to play yet rather than playing people who know what they are doing? Seems like youre the one who gets off to thinking he/she/it is good at this game rather than the other way around....and if you really didn't care about what I have to say then why even post a reply?.....answer me that n00b Oh and to everyone else who doesn't care...if you don't care so much don't bother to read it and reply to something you do care about

Just because you've played over 700,000 time played ladderred games, doesn't mean you R an expert. It means you have nothing better to do. AKA- Don't get out much...Hehehehehe... I'm sick of people who've played sooo..many games, that they think they R the Best. The less you play with the most amount of productivity = a great player, not the other way around...

Sorry Mr. Azwhooping I don't need to ask those other "top" players and ask them how you hold up....the fact is is that most of the top 50 are just a bunch of "average" to "good" players the only good play i can think of that has a good point total per game is silver1nl... and oh 75\% of the games you play.....the only time i play 1 on 1's or small games is when I want to have an ffg... thats it.....I never ladder in smaller than 40 player games.....and the fact of the matter is I don't make my own games on my own servers and kick people if I don't get mvp..... if you looked up my stats you would see that.... Oh and just for your information it's Ms. C4kitty not Mr. .... Oh yeah I just thought i would add that..... your a so called "worker" yet you spend your time in a forum replying to people you think are kids and are 12 years old...wow shows how mature you are[ April 19, 2002: Message edited by: C4kitty ]

Is that so Dooh well look at my stats.... if it were up to your grading system I would be the best in the world.....and oh yeah i do play for points and don't play by repairing..... I want points plain and simple....and if it need be where my tank is taken out and i'm a hotwire and there are other tanks that need help....I say screw them let them help themselves.....I plant c4 on my self and I'm back at my base ready to get into another tank... My main point is that if people would treat their tanks better and get better tank skills they wouldn't need engis,techs, or hotwires to follow them....and if you have read my posts on how to get good tank skills then maybe you wouldn't be sounding so dumb right now

Well, you know what, you're both out for points, and that's it. Look at your win/loss records. I've been in games with both of you, AzWhoopin, you're synonymous with being the first place guy on the losing team, C4Kitty, your record is quite similar. Lot of points, but terrible win/loss, neither of you are team players. I happen to know how to rack up the points, but I also like to win the game too, to guarantee at least some points. Unfortunately, the renegade ranking system doesn't distribute points out evenly for every job. Defense and repairing don't get you jack, so nobody does it. The real way to get points, whether you like it or not, is just sit back with your tank and shoot at buildings, whether you destroy them or not. Every hit on a building will give you more points than anything else. When something comes up to shoot you, kill it, hop out, repair, continue shooting. Nukes are nice, but, lots of times while you're wasting your time and money doing that, someone else is racking up the points shooting at a building. If the map has no defense, rush in with c4s on mcts, hotwires take out buildings too, but unfortunately again, you can rack up more points shooting at a building constantly being repaired, rather than taking out a building. It's messed up, and as your win/loss records show, team work is definitely not needed to win a game. You both win when you have some team players on your team. If you don't, you're the #1 score on the losing side.

Everyone isn't going to be like that, and if you cared anything about winning and playing the game like it should be played, you wouldn't be like that. But you're all about your ranking for some reason, whether it makes you feel good, or makes people think you're good. Renegade claims it's a game that requires team work to win, well, it is. Unfortunately, the point system is screwy, and you could be a top 5 player with a losing record, which doesn't show any "know-how" of how to win the game. But if it makes you feel better, do it I guess.

wow you get a lot of points in a game.... whoopie i'm sorry to break this to you but, you aren't that good. i've played a lot of games with you before and you're average at best. a lot of times you just complain about how everyone on your team is a n00b. you always seem to have some kind of excuse ready when you die. you really aren't as good as you think you are.

Even if you don't hit an object directly you can still get points from blast radius damage. 2) Shoot at objects which will yeild the greatest points/shot. Such as shooting at a harv. vs. a tank. If you shoot at the tank it will give you more points 3) Learn to have your tanks and units last long amounts of time on the battle feild, such things include being a tech/hotwire or engi. while in a tank. Due to this you can do self repairs. Also learning the priority of what to shoot at, such as shooting at units which can do damage to you vs. units which do not do damage. 4) Learn to "trace" or have your weapon fire ahead of a moving target such that you can have your bullet/tank shell hit the enemy vehicle when it moves 5) The last main tip I have to pass on is learn the distance to which your unit can fire a shot, such as learning that Mammoth missiles have limited range (this is more for my own benefit since I'm rather sick of seeing people use Flame Tanks on units miles away or using the Mammoth missiles rather than the tank shells ). Have anyother tips to add to how to get a really high score?? Feel free to add 'em its not "trace" its "lead" who gives a shiit about points, the best players dont always get the most points. for example why is the player who took out the power plant less of a player than the guys who rushed to the base in there flame tanks after that.or why is the player who single handedly defended the whole base why every one ells rushed to the enemy base to attack, less of a player.until the points system is changed in this game having good rank will win you little respect .

No need to get heated about it, so C4kitty's not a team player and you are. That's all there is too it.You want big points? Play Islands as GDI and hit the Hand of Nod with your mrl for the entire game. Saw someone get 910 ladder points cause he just kept shooting and never had to move an inch. Sure it's boring as hell and personally I think it's lame, but it doesn't involve any teamwork, skill, or general thought to pull off (perfect for a great many people).Myself I stopped playing for points while still on the MP demo. No challenge, just shot mammoths (in green life, no ones mentioned that yet) with a Sakura and I got MVP every time. Now you'll hardly ever find me leeching points, I'm either shooting down apache's with Havoc, vandalizing flamers and stealth tanks with a PIC, or having sniper duels (I'm notorious for this on Mesa).I'm not knocking on right, it's a team game. it's just most of the people that are top ranked can't come up with any strategy and lead a team because they aren't smart enough, and their strategy is shoot at building, die, shoot at a building, die, and so on.... This is seen by their sorry records, they may have more wins, but not many. If they were smart, they'd rack up their own points but help the team to win also, but they aren't, so there they are. Just think of all the times if they had helped their teammates, how many more points and wins they'd have. I mean, they wouldn't have to play the game constantly then to stay up near the top.

All this arguing is bad karma I don't really have anything else to say that hasn't already been said, other than that the boring jobs should be a little more appreciated more in games. Boring jobs like repairing, doing recon, or guarding the base (I remember that one time I was a lone gunner defending the barracks, which was our only structure left, while every other person was out attacking. I think I got about 5-6 kills because noone got near )It is important to act as a team player in ladder games, lest you want to be flamed by your teammates . But most of the time, i'm in un-ladder games to have fun, which is where I pick a lot of the fun units like aircraft and snipers. But the truth of the matter is, the ones in battle get most of the glory (just look at history).

Wow C4, your a real greedy fool... I can be found Blowing up buildings, defending base, Sniping, and repairing tanks with techs when there is a need, sometimes I jump out of my own tank to fix somebody else's. So many times I spend most of the game around the base mining buildings, repairing buildings and stopping flame rushes with PICs or Mobius. You also notice that U said U have a high win percentage.. Most of the people in the top 50 have better win \% and without being a greedy *** like you.I don't know how many people I have thanked for repairing me in a big battle and I usually give them my tank eventually for it. If it wasn't for the engys fixing my tank the game would be lost. Those engys that fix our tanks are the key to winning most games. Somegames I find myself defending the base or repairing tanks more than attacking.. So many times I seen "top ranked players" witness an engy rush into our powerplant and they totally ignored it, he just jumped into his apc and took off, I jumped out of my tank, ran in to attempt to stop it and did saving the team the loss of a power plant all while somebody steals my tank while I am saving PP and you are halfway to the enemy's base for another 33\% chance at a high scoring building kill! BTW- U say your win \% is so good right? Yours is 60% and mine is 59% some others ranked between us have as high at 71\% and plenty higher than 60%. Lets not make up stories ok?Your a greedy point hore of a player. You already state you will not fix anybody and that you only play for pts. Your are pathetic and then you lie trying to pretend you have the best win \%. Its a team effort.

One of my favorite things to do is stake out a nice hidden area near the enemy's airfield or War factory (Mesa is good for this) and everybody that trys to claim there veh snipe them, this is the most frustrating thing in the world to people, and if possible after the 20-30 secs of no-steal time goes by run out and see if you can take it. Getting a flame tank in enemy's base is big damage

C4kitty,I enjoyed doing the same thing for the first 2 weeks of Renegade. I was always 1st or 2nd and racked up points by being a "lone wolf"(i.e not caring about anyone else)The thing is that you grow tired of doing the same things EVERY game. So now I don't play ladderred games, even using GameSpy (please forgive me )and you know what?I'm having fun.That's right...fun. Sometimes we win...sometimes we don't. Sometimes I get to be the hero that plants the beacon, sometimes I get to be the schmuck that doesn't change his $1000 unit to an engineer and lets a building be destroyed.Sometimes I just buy myself a sniper, grab some blankets and a thermos of coffee and spend the whole game picking off people and laughing out loud when I get them.I swear and curse when someone snipes me, mostly because I feel so stupid that I didn't see them.And apart from a lot of fun, it's also given me more of a sense of tolerance for other players. Because some of you may be doing exactly the same thing as me...having fun.So, I appreciate your advice and agree that it is a good way to get points. I also agree with all the others who see you as "greedy".The best part of it all? Having as much fun out of the game, watching you silly peoples in an oh-so-serious discussion about a GAME,as I do by playing it.Thank you all for your entertainment.

I expect people to use common sense which is why I yell at the morons on my team if they disregard the fact that their power plant is being killed.....and yes i am much better than you ninja I realize that a girl being much much better than you at a trivial thing such as a game gets you angry and you like to push up you own ego by putting me down.....and if you think that this is not a single player game maybe you should realize that this is a tournament of individuals and if you want to be so all high and mighty on winning team games why don't you take your n00b butt and stick to playing clan games

I just seem to notice what you said about what people SHOULD be doing. You sorta make it sound like playing computer games is a bad thing.

Nope, playing video games is a great pass time. Better than doing drugs. But the sad facts are that more than 50% of guys over the age of 16 that play video games more than 5 hours a week is a social outcast. And probably closer to 90% of girls that play video games over the age of 13 are social outcasts, this is where C4 falls into.

constantly fire. Even if you don't hit an object directly you can still get points from blast radius damage. 2) Shoot at objects which will yeild the greatest points/shot. Such as shooting at a harv. vs. a tank. If you shoot at the tank it will give you more points 3) Learn to have your tanks and units last long amounts of time on the battle feild, such things include being a tech/hotwire or engi. while in a tank. Due to this you can do self repairs. Also learning the priority of what to shoot at, such as shooting at units which can do damage to you vs. units which do not do damage. 4) Learn to "trace" or have your weapon fire ahead of a moving target such that you can have your bullet/tank shell hit the enemy vehicle when it moves 5) The last main tip I have to pass on is learn the distance to which your unit can fire a shot, such as learning that Mammoth missles have limited range (this is more for my own benefit since I'm rather sick of seeing people use Flame Tanks on units miles away or using the Mammoth missles rather than the tank shells ). Have anyother tips to add to how to get a really high score?? Feel free to add 'em nice C4Kitty, I see you admit to not being a team player. You do realize that this game is based around your team? If your team sucks cock, well, you're going to lose. Not helping them isn't going to make your precious ladder points come any quicker.At the very least, if you help them and don't get all that high in the ranking, at least you made more points than losing them or gaining nothing.Of course, you wouldn't understand this, you're so much better than us all, with you getting out of your vehicle so I can steal it and all...

LOL how true how very true.you wanna know why i cant get good pointage? heres my main reason BIG A$$ LAG SPIKES AND 2 FU*KIN SECOND LAG. god i love 56k and bless msn. oh and lets not forget team stupidity from guys who dont defend the base steal my vehicles (same team not opposite) guys who wuss out in a rush cause they dont want to scratch the paint and die anyway. ive known about these tactics since before renegade has been made public knowledge. i play R6 and op flashpoint, i was part of a very good clan with very good players and i could beat all of them with ease and these guys said that i was one of the toughest opponents they ever faced. usualy i cant get more than 1000 points because i have to pull our teams sorry a$$ out of the fire because they dont defend, let the other team attack the buildings, wait for the other guy to disarm the C4 or beakon if they have a expensive guy or im just snipin so no one can get in our base because no one else will.my lag is so bad 1 out of 8 games i can actualy stay in without getting a server connection lost because of lag spikes or people dont want 56k'ers in. sometimes i cant even walk inside a building because i get rubber banded outside 5 times or more unless i get killed so i cant even get in bases. forget tanks with my connection i cant even drive it in a strait line without getting rubber banded to a wall and getting stuck. i hate people telling me to get better tactics or buy a better connection because i probably already know what they know or more and i just dont have the cash to fork out 170 bucks to msn for a dsl/phone package a month or plain dsl because it is really expensive. why? because msn is practicly the only provider here and they just can do it and not lose many customers.nothing like a good rant to make ya feal better

To respond or not to respond, that is the question. C4Kitty... hell it's all been said. I'm not trying to be really rude or nothing, but why would you buy a team game if you wanted to go play with yourself? Wouldn't a vibrator work just as well? At least then we wouldn't have to deal with you...

C4, most people on this dont care who beats them - as long as they had a fun game - I mean, sure its unusual to find a girl that plays games much less is better at them than me - but ive played lots of online games and if your bringing this all back to 'but shes a girl', i have to wonder how much of what you said is made up seeing as it looks like youve reverted to grade 3.

C4Kitty, you have issues. Your over here running your mouth about how your ranks just soooo good well guess what? ITS A FREAKING GAME. Its not a life or death matter that you arent the best. No one cares about your ranking and frankly, no one wants to. And I know the first thing youll do after you read this is look up my rank and say something as a comeback. Well dont bother. Ill admit it im not the best player (my rank is around 39000, because i dont play a lot ) but at least im a team player. Theres many whom you can ask that ive helped in tough times. I play for fun, not to be the best. If I were in your shoes, I would start being one. You should join a clan if ur soooo good. Then the whole clan would benefit. I agree with azzwhoopin on all his thoughts because hes right. Theres a wake up call, C4KrybabyPS: I ve played with you before, and your not all that great. You steal tanks too much. If I were you, id quit it because noone likes you for it.

Yep not a post under here in a week, but then again why should I?... most of the people who responded are too stupid to comment on, saying how I'm not a team player..... well so what if I'm not..... the post is "ever wonder why I can get such a high score in a game" not "ever wonder why I win so often"..... and you dorks, mainly azwhooping aqualite ack and sup, just don't realize I'm not going to shut up or be quite....cuz when it comes down to it I really don't care what you half brained Newbs think....and azwhooping I'd like to know just what your prob is?? is it cuz I don't play as a team, or is it cuz I think you tactics are screwy and need work?? or is it cuz I yell at the newbs on the team I'm on....why don't you just face it and own up to the fact I know what I'm doing and if everyone would just get their head out of their butt maybe the game would be interesting.... but its not were still stuck in the era of morons like you thinking a fast rush on a large map with large teams will win..... u say you want goddang team work fine..... well I want strat. you newbs start learning how to play and I'll start being a team member... but until then you can go take your complaints and shove them where the sun don't shine , oh and to anyone who is going to say "oh yeah then why don't you just say what good ideas you have C4b*tch" I will but I doubt you'll care since you like making fun of me so much.Oh and to you personally azwhoopin I didn't bother to respond to your pathetic little posts cuz I couldn't be bothered to respond to such lame insignificant comments not because I've finally shut up. Oh I've always wanted to know where you work, give me your bosses email I'm sure he'd like to know how you spend your time at the office.And to you ack(aircraftkiller, the Newb beta tester with lame little pics.) you might be good at "flaming", though I'm not sure doesn't take much brains or guts to make fun of someone behind their back, but when it comes down to it I've heard youre just as bad at making fun of and yelling at newbs as I am. But one difference remains: 'i need repairs"i need repairs"i need repairs"i need repairs"i need repairs'I might yell at them and make fun of them but atleast I don't turn to them and expect them to help me. And if they do repair me I always say ty(thank you), if there is ample time. And maybe if you spent more time working on your aim and less time typing remarks maybe you would be good like the rest of the beta testers are.[ May 01, 2002: Message edited by: C4kitty ]

I would love to whoop the living fuck out of you in a game, really I would. Show you how team work beats your 'strategies'. TEAMWORK IS STRATEGY, YOU IDIOT!!! Oh, and one more thing... Last time I checked your rank before the ladder reset, you were ninth place with over five hundred games in. Is it because you're good? BZZZZZZZZZZZZZZT WRONG ANSWER. Is it because you play constantly? DING DING DING WE HAVE A FUCKING WINNER!!!

Hey C4Kitty I've play with you for several games. You forgot to give a few more tips on how to get HIGH score for games. Like the way you exploit bugs to win? Why don't you tell everyone how to plant the nuke beacons in the Purchase terminal. And then say it's the enemy team's fault because YOU exploit the game's bugs? Oh wait they fixed the PT bug... Guess you can't exploit it anymore. But I'm sure you'll find some other nice bugs to exploit so you can rave about your high score on some point like this. Maybe you can find some other cheat programs out there and teach other people how to use those I am sure you'll use the same explanation you gave when I ask you why you were exploiting bugs in the game "Because you're a stupid newbie and you suck that's why I am cheating" etc. I don't anymore but that game I was 2nd on my team. Oh well good explanation C4Kitty.

Despite the time away from Renegade I still remember how people like you play C4Kitty. Trying get the highest score possible regardless of the means. Who cares when you don't team play, who cares when use bugs to win a game? And I remember games with guys like A10Maniac, some AzN guys and even a few games with TankCmdr(ACK) and I'd gladly team with these guys that play a TEAM game then play with a jackass like you C4Kitty.

LOL- Its all good, last night I got the dis-honor of playing with her and against her for about 6 games total in a 40 player room. Everybody was flaming her and it was kinda funny. I also ended up MVP 3 games in a row in the game that she was in. She was no big deal on the field, just another player. I was sure to tell everybody not to fix her. And also I had some of my other friends online pushing her into harms way and blocking her in until she dies.. It was a great site. But 1 point I sort of agree with her about, winning is about points, and playing for yourself (playing for points, but not meaning refusing to fix people) is the only option if you are on a team of newbies. If there are 4-5 snipers hidden around the map Field, and your teammates keep making MRLS and getting slaughtered, you have a right not to play as a team and fixing them would be pointless. But having a team of noobs is maybe 1 in 4 games on average

Awwwwwww did I strike a nerve ack??? hmmm I think I hurt your feelings.....however I'm inclined to tell you I really don't give a rats azz how you feel. So pfft shove it little boy . Oh and the topic was about to die? Well it really wasn't its morons like azwhooping who keep coming in here and bragging about how they "Shut me down, and how they've made me shut up" if you morons don't want me to say anything then don't put anymore responses up, simple as that. And to the moron who thinks that my tips are obvious and simple why is it I see people constantly shooting at the harv. rather than a tank that is shooting up their teammates?? Why is it I see people constantly getting their tanks stolen?? If my tips are so obvious then why do I more often then not lose 0 points when I'm on the losing team?? Or more often then not get in the top 3 ranks on the team?? If its so obvious why are there not more scores closer to mine in the game?? Is it because not everyone is in a tank, well that might be it but at least then we should see a higher percentage of the team 40-50%, lets say, with score more comperable to mine. And most of all, guess I'll make a separate paragraph just for you Azwhooping, yes you did get higher point totals than me in two games not 3. But lets see why hmmm volcano..... you were off 'shooting' the enemy base while I was in a med. chasing 4 flamers around in our own killing them off. Seems to me like that was team play, if I didn't do this we would have lost our base for sure, not only that but I lost 4 min of 'shooting at a building time' and in the end I was only 101pts. behind you. And why you may ask? well its mainly because I was taking care of my tank ever so often I would see your point total go up then stop, were you dying??? did you waste you tanks??? I'll never really know since this is mainly about getting off on putting me down rather than telling facts. And in the second game you did nothing but shoot at the buildings it was canyon we lost our war fac and all you did was become a 'point who**', all you did was put down my strat about how to end the game quickly and easily when infact it was the easiest way to approach the problem. But these are not the most interesting things I've seen in the games.....Let me take you back to Hourglass, you remember that don't you Azwhoophin it was when you were on gdi with me, as you recall nod didn't let us get anywhere near their buildings so I couldn't just sit there and shoot at buildings. I also arrived late bye 3 min and I also had my game crash yet.....hmmmm I was the pts. leader on our team, wasn't I..... yes I was and you were what?? something like 5th..... 6th on our team?? I can really see that you have nothing to offer unless you have a nice big building in front of you to park your lazy azz in front of and shoot at

This is the first time I've posted on this thread, and to tell you the truth, C4Kitty, the game ISN'T about points. It's about finding new things, constantly changing your gameplay. Sure, your **** cheap tactics pump out the high scores. But honestly, doesn't it get a little boring? TRY different stuff, DO different stuff, give TEAMWORK a chance. And about when you were taking on those 4 flame tanks in the med. tank, were you doing it for the team, or were you doing it for your points, and it just HAPPENED to save the team?I was a newb, and people HELPED me. That's why I HELP other newbies. If things like this never happened, there would be a bunch of suck-ass players and a bunch of elite super-players controlling the game. It's easy to beat the crap out of a newb, it's easy to put them down and tell them to shut up, but that will just lead to cheaters because the newbs are fed up with no one helping them. Someone told me YOU were bug-abusing, C4Kitty. I know bugs are fun to use, but really, that's just not right. That's pretty close to cheating, too. I have no idea how you could be engaged, or whatever. You're the worst person with the worst attitude in the world, and the most dishonest player on Renegade, and no one could ever like you. The fact that you play constantly adds to the fact that I think you are lying about your boyfriend, unless he's Havoc or Mobius or something. That's like those poor boys who have a crush on Lara Croft from Tomb Raider. Pitiful. Anyway, to finish my post, I just want to point out that you REALLY need help. Psychiatric help. You need therapy. You don't seem to have many friends, if you're not a team player. And finally: EVER WONDER WHY YOU'RE SO ****ED IN THE HEAD? Because you are a redneck hillbilly who happens to have a computer in your cardboard house, with your beautiful husband, a rabid chihuahua. The End.

VOlcano, i killed hand within the first 5 mins of game with hotwire rush giving team a huge lead. then built med tanks and assulted base with everybody else. Also I was the one that allowed us to kill there last building bye going into it with a Patch and killing all the engysMap where u said I shot at buildings, they had 1 building left, we had no war, nothing else to do but shoot at hand (last building for nod) and kill inf since we were only up a few hundred pts. I had something like 25 kills and 3 deaths on that mapHourglass, my computer locked up 7 mins into the game when i was in 1ST place, I than did not get back in until 7 mins remaining and still finished top 5 on team in a total of 14 mins out of 30!! It IS still a team game, but I'm not going to go to the extent of sacrificing my entire enjoyment of the game to get us a win. It may be vital in some games, but crouching in a building and holding the fire button down to repair for 15 to 20 minutes straight is not all that enjoyable. Especially when no one on your team seems to be attempting to destroy the attackers. I'd much rather they just remove all repairing ability, then everything would still be fair but there wouldn't be arguments over who's going to stay and repair buildings or complaining about a hotwire not following your tank around to keep it repaired. Games would be shorter, too.

if you have a good connection, you can play large games to get points. if you have a dial up, your SOL because you can only play games where there are a few players. The log function method of awarding points in the singles makes it impossible for good players with dial up connections to get any kind of points...

I will ask the almighty question. C4kitty are you really a female? If so how did you get a truckdrivers mouth. I mean you type in games and call people noobs and dog them if they don't heal you and yet, yet I mind you, I haven't once seen you type ty or thx for the repair. I ain't ever heard, seen or teamed with a woman an they are as rude as u, and I em the Rude 1. If you are a female start acting more lady like so peepz shut-up and just start asking you about your gameplay and not your gen pool.

I have played with you guys. C4kitty and AzWhoopin are okay players. It's all about having fun but still be able to look at the stats to see how you are doing (according to the stats). Later.

I haven't played c4kitty yet, but, i know that she sucks because she doesn't cooperate. let me guess....i'm gonna get another vote of 1 (probably from c4kitty). What would really suprise me is I play a game with c4kitty and she actually cooperates...but thats not possible...

You all want this topic to go away?I know a d a m n easy way to make all of your dreams come true. You see, the WW Language Nazis don't like it when you complain about their ridiculous and illogical language filtering and kick/banning system they're using.How many of you have had WW's STUPID system ban you for misspelling 'shot', or slipping up and typing 'ass'? With no warning at all, just a simple boot from that w h o r e of a HelpBot?Valid points were made on earlier threads that were deleted because we expressed our dissatisfaction of our getting thrown out of all of WOL for an hour+ becuae we simply mentioned the name of the leader of Germany during WWII. That's right folks, you get banned for simply saying hitler. Instead of them responding like they should, they delete the entire thread because they know we are right. The message you get when booted reads something like "In respect for the younger players, you have been removed for a short period of time to think about your actions, now go to your room and don't come out until we say it's OK". BUT, these 'younger players' still see what you have typed, they're still seeing the evil words...make much sense? NO, it doesn't.They should use the same system they do on this forum, and on every other online game they have, the old 'replace b a s t a r d with *****' technique. But no, they use their highly irrational and gamer unfriendly system to take away the fun that we paid good money to have.I know that they say "...by completing your registration, you now have no rights as a person, and free speech means squat..." when you sign up or whatever, but that's no excuse. If they had any respect for thier customers, as they claim they do, they would listen to us and make a compromise! But no, they delete threads without responding...nice Westwood, nice.So if you guys really want this thread to be deleted, complain about the Westwood Language Nazis and it will be gone in no time.

Hey amd can you tell me why it is that you spend all your time making a lame map, that sucks and is full of bugs. As well as creating skins that are no more than an alteration of the original skins and just look like they've been plain dipped in a vat of sh*t. Rather than actually curtailing that newbiness in you that seems to find it necessary to Flame me rather than stand up to me like the 'manchild' you are and face me in a game. Or is it because you've got a nice case of arthritis in that finger of your from hitting alt+1 over and over. 'I need repairs'"I need repairs" I need repairs'Oh and before you put up another lame little post up in reply to me. That person is right youre giving me exactly what I want. You think in your own little head that what youre doing is funny, but more or less I've got your wrapped up posting and reading all the posts with regards to what my original post and to what people have replied to your posts. Your showing me that youre either a skinny little nerd with too much time on his hands, too many pimples, and too but* ugly to get a date. Or youre some pathetic obsessive guy who can't seem to get over the fact that I called him a Newb, even though its true I'll take it back. And I'll hope that you can move on and start to learn how to socialize and maybe if youre lucky then one day you'll land a nice cyber date with some hairy prison inmate. Who will in his own loving way make you his b*tch. Oh and don't worry Ack I already know you care, your overwhelming number of posts that regard me show me how much you care. Take care of yourself you very special little boy, and don't forget that even special people like yourself deserve to be loved.

LOL, IT LIVES!! She made an appearance to fuel the fire, hows about another month? I noticed that kitty has played a significantly smaller amount of games thus far than usual, and has a crappy rank. It is because nobody will fix you anymore? People calling you names all game make you leave? I have witnessed you leave in the middle of a game because everybody was ****ting on you. Quite a funny site.

Hey Nukelt15 there may be no I in team but there is a M and a E and that spells ME .I agree with you, if a building is being repeaird by engies and your doing no damage to it break off your attack and attack another building, after all the engines are in only one building and that leaves other buildings open to attack, and when they run out to fix it they'll be like bunnies frozen in the sight of a 1000Watt spotlight *boink* .Lets see how long we can keep this topic going.

Just remember when you're ignoring the 8 tanks slashing through your base, "There is no I in TEAM"...Any decent player would give up pounding on a building supported by 6 engies just for points, and go help out in such a situation, but some people seem too concerned with a few numbers on a computer screen to do that...See, the way I interpret it, this C4Kitty is a person who has latched on to something they can do(park and sleep on the fire button), and gets a sense of superiority from it...and as a result, anyone who doesn't go along with their wishes gets called a n00b because, who should give a **** about anyone else? I mean, there's only one person that deserves to have some fun in this game, isn't there? See, OTHER PEOPLE play this game too, and OTHER PEOPLE payed just as much as you to play it, and OTHER PEOPLE deserve to have fun just as much as you...just because you have the game doesn't give you a license to wreck it for everyone else. So if you get a kick out of doing something that ruins everyone else's day, there is this little saying: "The needs of the many outweigh the needs of the one". In other words, if you are doing something that ruins the game for everyone else, everyone else has the right to get p!ssed at you. IF you want to do things that p!ss off the majority(And I DON'T just mean beating a bunch of idiots who think they're hot sh!t), then go to a place where the majority doesn't have to deal with you. Start a server for like-minded people, and stop bothering everyone else.If you wanna play rambo in a way that helps the team(I.E. commando rushing the enemy base-and blowing something important up), then fine. But if you just want to sit there and pound at things just for the points, when you aren't helping in the slightest, you become no more than a DISTRACTION and a DEADWEIGHT, regardless of your score. Those numbers mean NOTHING if people don't respect you. If you sacrifice your MVP to repair allies in need, or disarm that beacon about to kill the PP, or switch to the losing side when the game's unbalanced, THAT is the kind of stuff that wins you respect and gets people to like you, NOT just hanging '#1' on your name. And if you think people should submit to your interpretation of things just because you have a better score, then I suggest you seek immediate psychiatric help, because the only place you'll end up that way is dead.You know what I find amusing? I find it very funny that C4Kitty hates n00bs, because those are the only people who would actually side with her... [ May 21, 2002: Message edited by: Nukelt15 ]

I also respond to posts. The name doesn't doesn't have to "cool", it just happens to stand for something (if you don't like it, then that's your opinion). Your name is stupid, you know (yes, that is only my opinion, but hey that's all we can give, you should face it too)... I've used my name in all the multiplayer games I have played for many years and you are the first one to ever call it stupid. I know you are only saying that 'cause you don't like me, but hey, that's your problem, not mine... Oh yeah, I'm not a retard, btw. If I ever do an IQ test, I promise to tell you the results, if I'll still be in these forums.Now, I rather not argue with you, but no... You know you said once that you'd ignore me. Trying to be smarter, you were. But you aren't, you know... If I flame you, you'll flame me back. That's just how you are. And btw, I'd like to hear your opinion on this: quote:Originally posted by AzWhoopin:YOU MUST BE RETARDED! 8 TANKS MAX PER TEAM.. 3-5 MRLS SHOOTING AT HAND, 3-6 ENGYS FIXING HAND.. Hmm...When did the pointless posts start happening, pg 5 or 10? Oh yeah, have you ever noticed how you can plant an Ion Cannon beacon on the edge of the Airstrip in Volcano? No one ever looks there and you can get nice points from destroying the airstrip. Oh yeah, It's a good idea to put your timed C4 down first before deploying the beacon.

Ok a recap for all the newbies not wanting to read the entire list of posts. In the beginning it was a legitimate post which turned into a C4kitty flame. After the flaming started the post grew very large and people started rambling about how many posts were in here how long it had been going. Now it is a sport to see how long we can keep it going and how big we can get it to grow. {before Dev deletes or locks it} C'mon 500!!![ June 06, 2002: Message edited by: aqualite7 ]
