all these storys can be found in that other form...1) a guy found where a newb planted a ion becon and disarmed it and killed him as sone as he was dead the noob said who told him where my becon was????? (his exact quotes had alot more swearing"2) 5 newbi hot wires where repairing the enemys offinsive i planted a nuke becon not to far away and said "aight guys got it in the base" after that all the hotwires/engineirs rand toward base leaveing all tanks to be blown up 3 of which died on the way back in tiberian filleds3)i was had a sniper in one of those over base snipe points and a near by door was open at it was a guy shooting at a mammt tank with a mini gunner (still inside) i sniped him after ward he claimed the guy in the mammy had a "return damage hack" on4) the 4th and biggest idiot of them on after getting killed by a gunner he said u cheater u have god mode on you shouldn't cheat cheaters are ****less fairys then later on in the next round he said "wtf my hack isn't working" 5)also i hate those stupid *****s who walk up to you while your snipeing stand in front of your scope and just look at you then u shoot em and then they waste all there ammo on u then say "cheater" when they're outa ammo6)This guy named GERVAIS86 stole my med right out of the factory (i pressed the "use" key twice by accident) so he steals it and the map is city, i say "Get the hell out of my tank asshole" he doesnt respond, we are losing and refinery has been destroyed; he drives to the tiberium feild closest to the nod base and stops,types "IM GONNA SAVE US NOW!!!", he then procedes to the enemy base and gets blown up by the obelisk of light.7)I was just in the forum game and some Black Hand chain gun dude was shooting me in the waist, but I headshot him a few times in the head and killed him first. He said what hack are you using?"8)this isn't a story but "boink"9)first of all remember we where all newbies one when i was one my aiming with a grenader sucked well i was shootin at another newbie i knew i totaly missed em .... not that dumb ass thought we where playin base ball and chased the grenade and went boom10)newb was a blk hand (invisable) i was hotwire now all though stealth u can see them i ran through i tunnle and saw him he didn't think i saw him and sat there waiting 4 me to kill a sniper who was shooting us from our base snipe point i threw land minds around him in that lil cornor he was in (remeber he doesn't think i see him) my dad is nod as well was in the same room i got done and ran back out hes name shortly after ward flashed and i made the kill my dad burst out laughing asking me to come looka t his screen i saw in the chat box in the pt the newbie saying "lol this hotwire doen't see me" "lol hes puttin mines inn a cave" " i think i'll kill em now " then spunky killed (newbis name) spunky is my game spy name11)a newbie who kept takeing ppls tanks got killed he said "hey!!!!1 that guy is in my havester i built and ran me over" 12) *boink*

You think thats stupid, I was playing on the Mesa map, and I was Nod. 8 Deadeye snipers were sniping people from the bridge in the cave. I hopped in my buggy and drove caustiously behind these noobs. I then saw one turn around and look at me. He stood still for 1 second, then I ran over them all. Two of them complained to the host to boot me cause they thought I was cheating by using a stealth buggy!!! I was booted just because I ran them over! My question is, WTF is a stealth buggy. Theres a stealth tank, but not a buggy. Despite this, we still won. Freakin noobs!!!!

OK I've changed my pants and am ready to tell a story. I was on the side of nod and it was the old under map, a fleet of mammoths parked themselves in front of the base and had engineers backing them up. I watched our side try to blow them up from the comfort of the base and get no where, so I did the smart thing, I bought a sniper, went through the tunnels and came up behind the tanks. I poked my head around the corner and saw a PIC sydney on the ridge on the other side of the map, she must have been typing a message cause she wasn't moving so I popped a cap in her head. I looked towards the tanks and saw the engines repairing they were perfect targets so I blew their heads off as they were occupied. Now the point of this story is that a whole lot of people were running around in our base doing nothing, not even repairing so why didn't they use the tunnels as well and blow the tanks up from behind. I sure there would be a lot of confusion in the tanks if all of a sudden they were getting rockets and rail gun shots up their pie holes. And yes we lost the game.

Here's a little story... brief version:I was helping defend our base from incoming mammoths. I was in a light tank zooming out to attack and then back in base to repair, which works well with the speed of light tanks. Anyway, I see that the closest mammoth has no one in it and the engineer is running around repairing it. I drive up to the mammy, ditch my light tank, and hop in the mammy (and squishing the previous driver of course). One of my teammates was even observant enough to notice what I was doing and ran up to hop in the light tank to bring it back to base. But wait.. it gets better. This all happened just feet outside of our base. Since the mammy was severely damaged, I immediately started heading back to base. Upon entering it, someone in a mobile artillery starts shooting at me and this is a friendly fire game. I had not fired a single shot at anyone yet. I drive down next to the obelisk and hop out, assuming that he's notice that a teammate got out of it and no one is currently in it. Nope.. still keeps shooting at the tank. I'm an engineer, so I was repairing the tank by this point but I had one problem... he wouldn't stop shooting it but I couldn't talk or else I'd stop repairing. Eventually (since he was doing more damage than I could repair) I said to stop (another teammate also yelled it), but alas it got in the last few shots to destroy it. It always feels good to steal a mammy, but I'd rather be able to actually use it afterwards.

I agree that we were all newbies at the beginning but is it me or looks like they just get more dumb by the minute? but anyway I have a story for you. We were playing on a non defence map and I saw a med tank in the base and I think let's try to get it. So I get in and some n00b asks hey our tanks shows a NOD symbol why is that. I explained I was a spy going to their base to blow up some buildings. He said ok good luck and I ran him over and blew up his base all by myself probably the entire team was one big newbie team

My best experience was running a Mobius over with a stealth tank in Under. Immediately he blamed the sniper. I did it again. And again. The fourth time I made a combat run at him and missed. He saw me and starting zapping. Seeing that I'm in front of the GDI base, by their bunker, I fall back into the Tib field.Mobius follows head on; and I reverse course and drive him over again....I was decloaked and barely hit him. He had plenty of space to back up or strafe, but decided on another intimate encounter with tank tread.He then accuses the whole of Nod team of being cheap snipers. He dies repeatedly as the game goes on, still blaming snipers when he gets run over by invisible armor.Another experience is with a moron named add. Using a aimbot and C4 charges he goes to FF arenas and destroys his own base; laughing gleefully and calling everyone names. If you see the *****, please shoot him.add plays the Renegade demo, and frequents the arena -= SGS Renegade DEMO =- .If any of you see him, please send death his way.

the best I did was when I was a stealth dude and I bought a beacon, I bummed a ride from someone and went to their refinery, I planeted the beacon and waited to kill anyone that tried to disarm it. Next thing I see is 4 engies run up to it and I think "**** the're going to disarm it" BUT WAIT! the start shooting their pistols at it and using C4 on it, naturally the nuke hits and destroys their refinery killing all of them, so I laughed my ass off for 2 mins straight, THEN they started saying "who was using an invincible beacon hack?" I couldn't reply because I was laughing so hard.

Best day today.A hotwire abandoned a mrls. Being a stealth BH, took it and ran the hotwire over.Under is a excellent map. Seeing that the GDI was hitting our base pretty hard with three mammoths, I withdrew to the side hill along the tiberium field. A weak mammoth began to withdraw, and I blasted it with two salvos of rockets, eliminated it.Seeing a GDI mammoth heading out to reinforce; I tried to make it to base...no success.I then stole a GDI APC. An APC and the reinforcing mammoth sieged our base. The APCs driver got out to repair the mammoth. Stole the APC and drove away.How can someone steal two vehicles in a row, from the same team?

Ah. Stories about idiots, always fun!1) I'm played the Islands map, with relatively few people. Most of them are blasting/repairing the Hand of Nod or running around blowing themselves up in the tunnels. So here I am, one PIC Sydney, watching as a flame tank comes to ransack our Weapons Factory, with no one around to defend but me. Now PIC's may be very good against flamers, but 1 on 1 isn't very easy. So naturally I'm thinking "Oh ****!!". So here comes the fun part, the flamer proceeds to drive right past me and start burning the Factory. I stand behind shooting it as fast as possible. When it's about half life, much to my astonishment, the driver jumped out and starting repairing it!! This is an enemy, repairing his vehicle in my base, while I'm right next to him! I watched as he repaired it to almost full, nabbed him in the back of the head, grabbed the tank and started toying around in their base with it. I couldn't stop laughing till the game was over!2)

Another Islands story. Some of you might have notice, in one of the rocks in the central Islands, there is a really dark cave running through it. After being shot at by a Mendoza, arty, stealth tank, and black hand (stealth), I barely managed to slip into the cave and *gasp* not be followed! Right then I was puzzled whether to be joyous or extremely freaked out. Now I run through to the other end of the little tunnel (got nothing better to do), and wait for something to drive by. Stealth tank pops up right on schedule, and stops. I start blasting it and the driver doesn't seem to clue in that the big blue beam from my PIC is coming from the tunnel right next to him. Of course, on cue, he jumps out and start repairing it. Let me elaborate on that a bit, he jumped into the tunnel along with me and stood there repairing it. Because of his obvious stupidity, I took out my pistol and nailed him in the ass (literally) without him realizing I was directly behind him. There's just no hope for some people...3) Because we keep knocking on idiots, I'll throw in a quick shot at myself, when I exclaimed in-game "Note to self: Lower orca before jumping out to repair it." (I was tired and not paying attention okay!! =)4) Ah, the infamous rows of snipers. Have a good sniping spot, why not bring your friends along! 5 of them standing right next to each other on the Hourglass hill, shooting at god knows what. I take aim with Havoc and "boom", down goes one with a bullet in the head. I quickly move to the next one and "boom", another down. After this I would expect them all to have backed off behind the rock, but no, apparently none of them seem to careful 2 of their friends just died next to them. So, "boom", "boom", 3 and 4 go down. Unfortunately someone else picked off 5, sigh.5) Some people never learn. On Mesa, there is that bridge running across right? On one side is a big canyon and the other has a little open space and a short distance between bases. 2 Nod light tanks started to go through the space there, I had just crossed the bridge with my PIC and ran into them. Now there is a little divider there, which is "LEDGE X X X LEDGE". Tanks cannot pass it, and cannot see over it. This is where the fun part came in. While I was outpowered, I had a massive terrain advantage. I managed to stay there, taking shots at both tanks as the idiot drivers attempted to find a way to shoot me (answer == move to higher ground and shoot down, duh). I actually kept fighting until I ran out of ammo, and got away without taken a single bit of damage the whole time. On my way back to base I remarked I was sorry to leave them but I'd be back soon. Dunno if they regarded this but sure enough when I refilled they had decided to stick around =). A single patch is there trying to fight them off now, and perhaps a gunner was there before since one of the tanks was fairly injured. While the other one shot at the patch, I took it out from behind the barriers. Then I simply jumped over to the over tank and, much to my *cough* surprise *cough* the techy was repairing it. Grab tank, run over techy, proclaim my ultimate power, and that's that end of that story.

1) One time at the Mesa level, I was in a NOD Light Tank and decided to cause some trouble by attacking their factory from the tiberium cave. I would have thought they would repair it, but no. I kept shooting the factory till it was in the yellow. Nothing. Kept shooting till it was in the red. "GDI Weapons Factory destroyed." I destroyed the GDI weapons factory alone, in a light tank. How stupid can they get? Well, even stupider apparently. After repairing some 100 armor I lost, I came back and attacked the Barracks. No one repaired it, and I eventually destroyed the Barracks, alone and in the same light tank. What was everyone in the GDI base doing? I think only 1 gunner and a soldier came after my tank the entire time. 2) This isn't really a noob thing, but lag more like. I was flying my damaged apache back to base in City, and I landed on a skysc****r to repair it. Just as I landed, some timely burst of lag hit and I ended up exiting and falling off the skysc****r 200 feet and dying. Another lag instance is the tail rotor of my chopper getting stuck in the wall, but a lot of people have probably have that happen.

For all of you how love good n00b stories I have the king of em all! one day I was playing on a air sever and started to notice some stupid GDI n00bs trying to get their apc into the base. Well thinking fast I ran down and started firing at it. The driver and the passangers al get out and start runnig leaving the APC unmaded! well I got in the APC and ranover the fleeing n00bs. After that I took the APC back to my base and had my friends all get in. Later we all arrived at the GDI base and expected to be fired on well the stupid n00bs thought that we were on their team! we quicky got out and killed their base!

Much exaggeration here but anyways - lots of fun.What bugs me about n00bs that they sometimes won't stop putting 30+ mines into the AGT although you pointed out the limit to them already!
