Roughly the same style as my killerRed Stank, and as with the that release I have tidied up the arty. New headlights and taillights, tidied up the window, played about with the color scheme, etc.

But I still love it.
Well done

Thanks for the comments.

Regarding the pack, I've been working on the other vehicles; they're not complete yet but here is a screenshot of how far I've got.

click for screenshot***

In the pack I'll also change the arty to be a little lighter and add some lights to the stank.

No, there was a user on jelly forums who requested white nod building skins, so i made them and added them to my game to take screenshots. Just never got round to removing them, probably never will as that is my Renegade install for developing skins, not actually playing the game.
