yep... fraps is a "fps-eater".

fraps waste like 20fps, and if you record to an external hd, you can lose again 20-30 fps.

if you set the video size to half size it lags less (i think it's set already in the trial version). But you could use other software that records lower quality ErroR wrote on Sat, 22 August 2009 11:41if you set the video size to half size it lags less (i think it's set already in the trial version). But you could use other software that records lower quality yep, but you need atleast a game resolution from 1024x768 (or above) for half size recording. i record full size on 800x600.

with a game reso of 800x600 the half size video looks really crap.

if i finished the clip i save it as a 1024x768 HD mpg file. you get then a real big file (i.e. the com match video jelly vs wittebolx, it was 1,3Gb big) then i use a converter (FormatFactory) to convert the vid to mp4. its 130Mb big now.

Lol, if you are trying to make friends on a forum then you are going the wrong way by dissing someone's videos.

By doing that you have already lost my respect.

If you don't like the videos then the best thing to do is not to comment at all. That way you won't look like a complete ass.

you have to understand him, orca. he earned a kick from me in j1 coz his abusive lang (and as i saw later he earned a kick in mara for the same reasons, before he joined j1). after a few tryouts to kick-evade (changing/creating new nicks), he earned a 1-week-ban. and so i can understand him a lil bit, if he act like he just did. little childs are allways like that.

but thx orca,
