While I worked on the Rp2 mod, I also had another little mod I made on the side. Recently I found it again, and decided to finish it and post it here. It's basically a co-op mission where you and some friends can fight through a bunch of different environments and try to reach the end. It's pretty old, but the gameplay's challenging and fun. Give it a try.

Notes: You need to be running the RP2 modified scripts 3.4.4 to play this, download them at the RP2 site.They are inclided with the map.

The level models aren't very good at the beginning, remember: it's a few years old.

Also, don't ask why it's called "metroid_level" and uses Halo models for players.

wow youre so mega cool youre not the only one Dude, go jump off a fucking bridge.

On topic: That is badass. I'm going to try that in a min.
You first.

Server IP?

I'm very sorry Canadacdn, but mrackz S-T-F-U and G-T-F-O. All you do here is spam and troll.

Anyway, nice update for RP2. I had to take a second look at the guy in the screenshots. It looked like a stormtrooper for a minute, lol.

This mod actually has nothing to do with RP2, it's a separate mod. Thanks, though.

There is currently no server for this map. I don't have the money or time to run one. You can still play the map in LAN or host a game with some friends, though.

Server coming soon.

(Making room for the server by computing the requirements for bandwidth and that's it)

(bandwidth is my main concern. I'm already running 5 servers a web server chat and radio server another web server FTP server another web server... another fTP server.... another webserver !)

Edit:
I'm shutting down the radio server lolz
