Is anyone here using "Virtual Drive" -program? I used it to create a virtual drive for me and now I have a Cd-Rom drive "E". How can I delete this "E"- drive? There is nothing in it and it has no size, its just an empty virtual drive...I haven't found any way to delete it...

Info of VDrive <http://www.farstone.com/home/en/shtml/vdpoverview.shtml>

To clear it out, I now have A-drive for floppies, C for HD, D for Cd-rom and E for the virtual Cd-rom, which actually isn't a CD-Rom, the system just thinks it is.

After you Uninstall, note that The VirtualDriveTM uninstallation program will purge all of the files created by VirtualDriveTM except the .VCD files. Delete them by using the "Explorer".

if that doesnt work

Search for and delete the following files from your system: cda.pdr , cdant.sys and cda.sys. Then restart the computer.

thats all I got

You won't regret it this one of the best CD copiers there is...

It may not be as fancy as nero and others but it can copy many CD's where thers fail and its Virtual CloneDrive rules...

Damm the key code is big.

clonedcd is good, but BlindWrite is MUCH MUCH better.

clonedcd can't make backups of the new secureROM protections.

:) BLINDWRITE CAN :)
