Firstly, to me the tank doesn't look all that nice.

Secondly, Scrin in my opinion was an un-balanced person who wasn't really all that nice to be honest. He had an inflated ego, and enjoyed people sucking on his e-dick so that he would graciously climax his texture replacements onto there face at the end. All involved found themselves in a sticky situation...

Thirdly, to emulate his behaviour, without even making that texture yourself in the first place (not that it was ever a viable excuse in any case) puts you actually one step below Scrin in my book. Releasing other peoples work is a very grey area, but doing it selectively on a public forum just like Scrin too is shameful.

Seriously, have we all learned nothing from Scrin's poor example?

His attitude sucked and he was largely dis-liked for it.

If you make something for this game, why not just release it publically? I don't understand this whole hording culture just so you can sit on a mountain looking down at other people.

Release or don't realease it. If you do decide to be selective about it, or are refusing to release it pointblank, then don't go bragging about what you've made publically. Besides, 9 times out of 10 whatever it is any of us have actually made either has bugs, looks like shit, or just doesn't work. People's ego's are far too large for the shit that's on offer here anyway...

I've been told it was his light tank. Those to skins are not the same. that one you posted is hazy.
His is splotchy.

your skin you posted

the one i have

I've never understood hoarding, especially with a game as old as this. And again especially because this is what kills the game.

But seen as Anant decided to have a hissy fit, i decided to use that screenshot he so kindly provided us.

cough...

Screenshot

And yes it's exactly the same, a screenshot in 100% view of the dds was shown above

Lol nice one, apart from I don't really like the skin as the red paint kills it.

If the parts with red paint were replaced with the camo texture like the rest of the skin then it would look a lot more professional.

A lot of things in my Ren data folder are skins but one thing I have not changed is the hud. It looks fine the way it is.
