+1 for PMing me asking where the best place to host a server is.

If I may offer you some friendly advice: Do not try to start a new server, there aren't enough players to go round.

Indeed. (sadly though ofcourse)
More than ¾ of the servers are empty. I once ran a server with a max of 5 players
Every other day it will be empty

What we mean is that when you start a server there will be a new one in the listings.

And besides that NEW means a server that hasn't been around yet so definatly sure yours is NEW as it is your first.

1 VERY important thing is to be able to read the forums without registering.

ahh you can read the forum and view with as a quest...but you cannot replay or post without registration.

i made sure to edit these functions myself so only members can reply and post, but everyone can view and read

Well, If you want help getting it on Google, I'd be happy to help, I'd also help you get a domain....

BTW, I am registering on your site currently

Hope I can help you out.
