Well if your mother plays then you should turly give no mercy, for n00bs must be pwnt.

Oh, you mean mammoth tank? It is possibly if the mammoth driver isn't experienced. So long as you can evade and get a few shots off because of element of surprised, I would think that it is possible.

Using the environment to your advantage should make the fight winnable.

Pretty tough against an experienced enemy though. But even then it's still possible in the right circumstances. You just have to be behind cover at (almost) all times.

It certainly is possible with your damage hacks, just pop them in and BAM. You can kill most things with 1 shot, surely you know that?

hahahahaha ROFL!

Anyway! It is possible but you need good timing, good shots, and good use of terrain. All the Mammoth tanks I killed ever while I was in a stank were making some mistake in one way or other...either by carelessly wandering away all by themselves into the field or just going in one direction.

But a good Mammoth tank driver can't really be defeated...a good tanker always fires rockets/guns in every direction to spot stanks and never allows himself to be outsmarted. Plus with good aim, a couple precise shots is all that's need against the Stank. You just gotta be aware of you surroundings.

Mammoth tanks are the really really good but only with someone who knows how to use it.

I think if you stick to him from behind, he can't hit you, not sure tho, i think the rockets can damage you a little.

stank has gotta hit the mammy 14 times, mammy has to hit the stank 5 times. Even super noobs can manage that usually.

we should be looking at an equal footing between players, not a complete fuckin retard driving the mammoth. Unless you're talking about a flaming buggy... well I don't see why its frowned upon, its fun ^_^

Depends on the map. On islands a stank will easily beat a mammy, given the stank driver is not a complete retard.
