So I was playing with the mammy DDS file trying to make a "wide load" skin (thanks to HaTe btw for the idea), when I came across this picture of a girl with the words "good vibrations"... but that didn't quite fit the mammy well. So I made another arty skin instead, lol.

Yes, I realize that our beloved arty is not exactly the same style used in the WW2 era, but I wanted to give it that kinda look with the pin up girl painting and the kill marks.

Hope you enjoy!

Kill marks... they are more common on aircraft, but the arty kills so much I couldn't let it go without them.

Tanks had them too but differently I know for sure the germans had them with white wrappings around the barrel. I'm unsure how the allies did it but im sure they did.

Toggle Spoiler I know this is a model of a real tank but real pics of aces are hard to find

I would have put some other stuff on there, but I did not want to make it biased to a certain country. Didn't figure the Europeans would want an American arty skin or vice versa...

Yea, it is the same camo pattern... it keeps working and I am too lazy to find a new one lol.

I am feeling generous so I will share this uber secret link to a hidden site that nobody else could find with google.

<http://camo.henrikc.dk/index.asp>

It is a gold mine for camo patterns ready to go for photoshop.

I searched for cammo textures multiple times with google, but I never found that site. Those textures are really amazing

And I like the arty
