How the heck does his .dds file make his face glow? It'd take bloom or a custom W3D to do that.

Unless that's just a yellow spot on his visor - which would be ugly ingame

Negative, That is my custom bloom. It actually looks very good ingame with/without the bloom.

I believe you I'll try it out later when I get home.

Good job

Actually, The original mask was orange/yellow, Now it is more greenish. The leather on his shirt is more blue now. And his pants/shoulders are now darker, And more real looking (as if he has been in combat).
