I was banned for joining a 4 person unlocked game... They didn't say anything they just kicked me, I thought I lost the connection because before the patch they don't tell you if you were kicked or lost the connection... So I kept rejoining because if was one of the only good servers that wern't full...

I feel your pain...I was playing on a German server. I was a hotwire doing my job and bam I'm bumped from the server. I'd been playing on several maps and was doing pretty good. The server was not at the max either....

then join my server. i only kick players that kill me or score higher than me! lol.. j/k. anyway, while my server is open gaming often, i also pw it too. you have to email me to get the pw. so far there are twice the number of players with the pw that the server can hold, but i'm having problems filling it up. check the thread on the tac&strat forum game. my email is the first post. hope to see you guys soon!

Or just find a regular server where you know the admin... (Heh heh heh... "Hey admin can you boot someone so I can join?") Being in the same clan helps too...
