You have to beat Renegade 100 times on commando difficulty using only the pistol (yes, even to kill buildings and vehicles) to be able to use the ramjet.

It is multiplayer-only, just like the railgun and the repairgun (and timed C4 and proxmines, for that matter). Anyone who tells you otherwise is having fun at your expense.

There is a guy on top of a comm tower in the second last mission who apparently has ramjet, but once you kill him, the gun will not stay and will disappear.
I believe that I have searched for it on that roof, but no luck.

Actually, in the very last mission after you save Sydney if you backtrack to room just before you fall into the tiberium mutant pit, you'll find Heavy Black Hand soldiers using railguns. Once you kill them, Locke sends in one of those reinforcement crates with a ramjet with full ammo in it. You can find the reinforcement crate in that same room that has that Seth guy from Tiberian Dawn frozen in that tube, but only AFTER you save Sydney and AFTER you dispatch the railgun Black Hand. This entire time you have to make sure Sydney doesn't die (Which can get a bit tricky in the Tiberium pit), since if she dies you lose the mission.

Is this for real? I remember there was a Black Hand with a ramjet on top of the communications center...I got up there by changing the gravity of the vehicle I was in...the ramjet had 1 round per clip, so it was pretty useless.

As far as I know, the ramjet has only one round but it is extremely powerful.

Go ahead and try it. See for yourself.

Although I think we're talking about two different missions. I'm talking about the very last one when you're inside the Ion Cannon'd Temple of Nod. That is an indoor mission, and there obviously aren't any communication centers there.

I know we're talking about different missions...I don't have Renegade installed and couldn't be bothered playing through the entire game anyway...just interesting that there's a way to get the ramjet without cheating gravity...is there a way to get the shotgun or the railgun (there are Black Hands with railguns???)? I remember Patch's gun sometimes spawning at the beginning of the last mission, but have never found those other two ingame...

I must have missed this... I cleaned your topic now. I saw at least 2 posts that may be helpful for you, I suggest you try that out. There's very few people that still play single player here, so asking for a ss may be a bit difficult.

The irony, Gozy, is that In one of the posts you "cleaned", I acutally gave him the truth about the ramjet and railgun and singleplayer, albiet in black font which made it difficult to find.

dover

The ramjet is not usable in single-player--Only NOD gets to use it. You never get to have it. By the time it shows up, sniper rifles are useless anyway. The railgun never even appears in single player. I hope you enjoyed knowing you've wasted your time.

Second to last mission, there's a black hand sniper with a ramjet. That's the only time it's ever seen AFAIK.

It might also be in the very last mission right at the beginning, although I could be mis-remembering

I can only remember the guy on the command center (elite blackhand) shooting with a ramjet. But I have never been able to find it or pick it up after killing that guy.
Only way to get it is changing your objects.ddb or in the last mission using a c130 dropmod to let the cargo plane drop weapons.
