Run the game from the Renegadex frontend. Find a server, choose a nick and click join game or whatever. When you will get to the menu, it might lagg a little, dont do anything, it will automaticly get you in the server. If you have a fast computer, you wont stay long in the menu, if you dont have a fast comp, you might have to stay. I run the mod on very high graphics and i wait about 7-10 seconds in the menu.

A new frontend patch will probably be out this weekend fixing the bug. At least, that's what one of the renegade-x team members told me. Also, if you are using vista I would suggest you to force the frontend app to run as an admin and some people also said that you can only join on field (bugs when you're joining while the server is playing island, will be fixed with the frontend patch this weekend).
