I'm currently re-energising the clanwars league, setting new servers up, improving the system generally... check the forums at clanwars.cc. there are various threads about my new ideas for the league.

cheers

there's good news there, because the pointsfix will be used in the clanwars league.

if you make a list of the players who did the damage to clanwars' reputation i.e. continually breaking rules, trying to get any advantage possible, and starting flamewars all the time for no reason... and then if you make another list of people who've expressed unbridled outrage at the pointsfix, you've basically made the same list twice

if you make a list of people who supported using it in clanwars you'd have a huge list maybe one or two people they will play with it because they don't care; they just want to play, which is why people have hung around this long that's ok, because the people who opposed it -a- had a habit of completely disregarding any admin rules that they felt got in the way of their advantage, and -b- got caught rigging polls several times.

so whether policy is decided by admins or by majority, they lose either way cos they don't respect the admins and they don't respect democracy, so neither admins nor democracy need to respect them back.

i don't believe that every single player from clanwars.cc who did not the pointmod used in clanwars or did not like the pointmod were all players who Quote:had a habit of completely disregarding any admin rules that they felt got in the way of their advantage and Quote:got caught

i believe that applies to some of them, but who supported the pointmod? i believe it was only yourself and whiskey? you mean to tell me that every other player in the clanwars community

then i guess you forgot what happened last time. if you remember there were something like 6-7 people currently arguing against the pointsfix, every single one of whom had a really crappy record in terms of honesty, fairplay etc.

liquidv2 wrote on Wed, 21 October 2009 23:07i believe that applies to some of them, but who supported the pointmod? i believe it was only yourself and whiskey? you mean to tell me that every other player in the clanwars community
No, I said everyone vehemently opposed to it was the kind of player who didn't listen to the admin (i.e. broke rules all the time), and therefore was in no position to expect the admin to listen to them. Although, of course, I went to incredible lengths to listen to them.

i guess i just think the game needs a clan ladder for the benefit of those who play fair, even if they're a minority.

I ran clanwars as a dictatorship, of course I did, but I always kept the floor open for debate. If someone could logically explain what was wrong with a decision, why it was unfair, it'd be changed. if that case was not successfully made, the decision would stand. Saying "but 90% of people agree with me!" doesn't fly, sorry.

But here's the thing. I went to incredible lengths to listen to people who went to incredible lengths to AVOID listening to me. You're asking: why is this admin not listening to the community? (which shows you don't even read the threads, but we'll ignore that). I reply: the people you're talking about don't listen to the admin. They outright disregard rules they don't like. This was true for EVERY SINGLE PERSON you were siding with. Cheaters, pointpushers and rulebreakers.

I don't make rules to please people who continually break them. If anything, when one of your rules has all the cheaters and pointpushers and rulebreakers in such terror, you might think you're on to something.

As for "go make your own league", you say that as if it isn't an extremely good argument. There is nothing, absolutely nothing stopping the likes of simpee making or buying his own league. You support each community's right to choose pointsfix or no pointsfix? Of course you do, you signed roni's petition. That means if Clanwars chooses to use the pointsfix, you ought to approve of that, and if some of its players don't like it, they can go make their own league. But you didn't, instead you supported the people like simpee who tried to subvert the admin's decision. When you spoke out in support of these saboteurs instead of the rightful league owner, you clearly didn't realise how much damage you were doing to your own credibility, but I would have hoped you'd have realised by now.

But still, I'm still the bad guy here, because I wanted to use the pointsfix in my league. Now, I'll repeat that statement.

I wanted to use the pointsfix in my league.

pay attention to the word "wanted". It was never compulsory. Who's the only person who hosted a clanwars league with the points bug, even after the pointsfix was created, in spite of his approval of the pointsfix? Apparently that makes me a "penis"... wanting to use the pointsfix, but still hosting a league with the pointsbug. But when cheaters and pointpushers actively subvert someone else's league, you don't have a single bad word to say about it. Like I said, I don't think you realise how much damage you're doing to your own credibility here.

two people wanted it; you're acting like more wanted it but simpee and the gang of hooligans negated them every community has a choice; the fact that you chose what you wanted over what literally everyone else wanted (minus a single person who just so happened to be your right hand man) made you look like a penis, or a big fat dicktator

if it makes the game more balanced and fair then in time clanwars players will learn to accept it or be forever bitter because they wish for the olden days to return to be fair i never said you could not do whatever you wanted; i just never really understood why you had no problem whatsoever with making a decision that every single player did not want (minus yourself and whiskey)

No, I don't need to say "sufficient people agree with me". I'd rather say "nobody has been able to refute what I said". That is not the first time majority has been against me at Clanwars, and not the first time when I turned out to be right, and not the first time when if the "majority" were listened to, the consequences may have been disastrous.

liquidv2 wrote on Thu, 22 October 2009 23:00every community has a choice; the fact that you chose what you wanted over what literally everyone else wanted (minus a single person who just so happened to be your right hand man) made you look like a penis, or a big fat dicktator
I love how you keep saying this about whiskey. "he just so happened to be your right hand man". He just so happened to be the only person other than me who gave enough of a shit about the clanwars community to help run a league. You say this as if it's a bad thing, as if it somehow negates his opinion. Yet when I say: the people who most vehemently opposed the pointsfix have a long history of disregarding admin decisions and therefore they shouldn't think I ought to listen to them at all, you act like I don't make an incredibly important point by saying so. My good sir, I put it to you that you've got the entire situation about as upside-down as you could possibly get it.

liquidv2 wrote on Thu, 22 October 2009 23:00if it makes the game more balanced and fair then in time clanwars players will learn to accept it or be forever bitter because they wish for the olden days to return

Actually, if it makes the game more balanced and fair then that is precisely why many people will always oppose it, specifically the very people you were so quick to defend.

liquidv2 wrote on Thu, 22 October 2009 23:00to be fair i never said you could not do whatever you wanted; i just never really understood why you had no problem whatsoever with making a decision that every single player did not want That's because you don't understand how to run a league, and there's no reason why you should. Given a choice between doing what you think is right and doing what you think will make you popular, a good admin will take the flaming.

i thought ill just add that it's not the pointsfix which makes me stay away from cw.cc, spoony is the reason.

the reason people stopped playing like a year ago spoony was because you left the league in the hands of a complete moron like wiskey who ran the league into the ground because of how unfair he ran the league and how he would manipulate his own rules to get a win out of anything.

once wiskey gave up running the league there was no admin(yes he cares so much that rather then look for a new admin he'd just dump the league the way he made it, a disgrace)

i don't have much faith in spoonys decisions or judgement and he acts like a whiney little baby and hes prooved it time again how much of a baby he is.

LMAO, low self esteem? i think i have more self esteem than your entire cod4 crew together, moron... how many of your e-buddys have actually ever posted a pic of themself on a renegade related forum? 1? maybe 2? i remember i asked simpee for pic when i was in EF LOL, reply was something among the lines of : "i send later, dont judge tho i might look bit pale cos monitor shining in face"... never got to see his picture, same with nearly everyone u 'hang around' with LOL, nice taking a stupid joke so serious claiming im "to insecure to post my own pic" or soemthing? I remember i have posted my pic several times actually but that 'argument' is about as retarded as all the other shit u bring up out of the blue, if anyone here is an insecure geek, i suggest you start by looking at your very own cod4 crew, before you throw around bullshit while i have refuted everything you said multiple times, this is like the 3th time u bring this shit up out of nowhere? guess you got to get rid of your anger somewhere... and how did i "flame" liquid? i told him to shut up about thinks he doesn't know anything about... how is that a flame, please explain cause i dont fully understand. as for SS(yet again): he used to piss me off when i just joined, i haven't had a single negative comment from him towards me in years now, good thing you keep track of time tho, but well yeah appearantly you seem to get your entire stack of bullshit "arguments" out of a museum anyways so im not exactly surprised to say the least. and also, i dont think your fully up to date(what a surprise) on the entire liquidv2 thing... i never "flamed" him before he started shit with me somewhere on this forum, so i'd say he started it therefor im sure i can give a reply on what my thoughts were(i even did this in a pm so i wouldn't have to bother the other people on this forum) and to end with: do you have any other bullshit that you'd like to throw at me that isn't taken from a flawed historybook?

I am the angry one, yet it is zell that starts flaming me out of nowhere, when i said "you should meet ss" i ment SS is notorious for giving people shit about alot of trivial things, since that's what he started talking to me about in a rather disrespectful manner, therefor i said there are people that are alot worse(therefor mentioning ss LOL), so if you would of just kept your mouth shut you could of saved us both some time here but you decided to bring shit up where is was not relevant at all(dont see how that can be relevant anywhere anywhere but ok...)

and i never flamed liquid, so dont pretend your giving me shit because i allegedly did something to provoke him, when i did not do anything like flaming him or such, so you really did start this out of nowhere yet i am the angry one when I say such things about your buddies?

hands of a complete moron like wiskey who ran the league into the ground because of how unfair he ran the league and how he would manipulate his own rules to get a win out of anything. once wiskey gave up running the league there was no admin(yes he cares so much that rather than look for a new admin he'd just dump the league the way he made it, a disgrace) even if any of this is true, and given your track record of criticising renadmins i'm not terribly convinced, how is this an argument against me? did I ever do anything like this when i was running the league?

simpee and clearshot have tried to argue that i did, although they had to lie again and again and again to try to make the point... you wanna see if you can do better?

ah right. so liquid said nothing bad to hitman but hitman insults him, and this proves hitman is not a valuable clan member and i'm an idiot for thinking he is?

then what the hell is simpee+clearshot and what the hell are you? i never did anything wrong to simpee or clearshot, and yet they go to INCREDIBLE lengths to attack me; they post huge lists of accusations to try to make me look bad, all of them lies. so by your own logic they're not valuable clan players, the league's better off without them, and your judgement is as bad as you're making mine out to be.

listen buddy, i had something urgent to deal with. you're basically saying that another admin didn't live up to the standards of the league when i was running the show?

here's a question, and you are not allowed to dodge it. either answer it or admit you can't answer it. if whiskey was such a terrible admin, why didn't you make another league and run it better?

in principle it's a fair point, but in practice it fails because when i take a stand against far worse offenders than hitman (simpee's probably the best example), you're against it; you go out of your way to attack me for doing so.

i think this was way before the urgent problems since i seem to remember you backing wiskey on quite a few things cause even though you was there you did not play games(excuse me if im wrong about this i do not know exactly when you had the urgent problem) but i believe wiskey was admin long before this happened if im wrong then just disregard what im saying cause i did not play so much while wiskey was an admin(due to him being so unfair)im a little hazey on the time as for the 2nd question i do not know how to buy a league and was never interested in buying 1 since i havent believed the cw.cc league would have had much activity on it due to people not bothering to play renegade anymore(including myself and ive already given you the reasons to why i stopped playing it)

lately i have been playing fun wars and im happy playing them but i dont appreciate you lying about me saying i do not want to play in your league because of pointsfix just to clear them up the reasons are i do not agree with quite a few things about where ur going with this league so i choose not to play it, i am happy playing the fun wars and i just cannot simply deal with the drama H2O and you will bring back to this game only reason i bothered posting in this topic was because you said i wouldnt play anymore because of the pointsfix when that is not true last thing i attack your choices you have made because i feel they were wrong and when u pm'd me to explain and then i explained what i thought about it you started to attack me, call names and lose your temper(i did not attack you for your views so why you do it to me?) then you had the nerve to say it was ME who lost my temper after that i just found talking to you reasonably was out of the question and a lost cause you seem to think im doing this for simpee but im not which is why i did not fight with you on the pointsfix topic but how you reacted to the topic is what is questionable and everybody on clanwars has said the same

yes, i've asked that question several times and the answer is always along these lines, if they dare answer at all... not interested, not worth my time/money/trouble.

and yet when someone actually does have the time/money/trouble... myself, whiskey... we get nothing but backchat and ballache from people who could host a league but don't think the community is worth the effort. never forget that because when you've said your very worst about my admin-ness, or even whiskey's, that fact automatically beats it.

if you look earlier in this topic you mentioned simpee and zell won't play just because of the pointsfix it may be clear and simpees reason but it is not mine how you've reacted is by acting like a baby and you ended up whining about why people wont defend you etc and you've gone onto other communities forums and still gone on about your view of what simpee and clear did when clear hasnt bothered posting about it and simpees replies are nothing to do with that topic which happened a month ago only posting pointsfix related posts it was fine a while ago but people just dont want to hear about it anymore cause all you ever did was keep repeating it over and over again it would be nice if you listened to what you said and would just drop it and move on with your league rather than continue to argue this is true, i think i meant to say clear instead of zell... oh well, i concede the point and appreciate the correction.

ZeLL wrote on Tue, 27 October 2009 06:07how you've reacted is by acting like a baby and you ended up whining about why people wont defend you etc
i think you totally missed the point. i wasn't whining, i was posting a pretty serious critique of the clanwars community. they have a couple of pointpushers and rulebreakers going out of their way to stab an honest, fair player in the back who's done them nothing but favours, you have them telling lie after lie after lie to try to make them look bad... and people say nothing about this, indeed they criticise me for defending myself.
and if people say they're defending clear and simpee because they're under the impression (or misapprehension, in my view) that they're fair and honest players, then it's a pretty good question to ask why they didn't defend me when i was the one under attack, since my reputation of honesty and fairplay is better than clear and simpee's added together, and since what was being said about me was nothing more than a bunch of outright lies (whereas what i said against clear and simpee was true)

ZeLL wrote on Tue, 27 October 2009 06:07 and you've gone onto other communities forums and still gone on about your view of what simpee and clear did for starters, what they did was ON ANOTHER COMMUNITY'S FORUM, so don't act like this is a strong argument.

no i meant drama involving pretty much like this, involving you making a decision which the community doesnt share and then there ends up being a huge fight on the forums and now your missing my point you have said what you needed to say about them breaking the rules but there was in all honesty no reason to keep repeating it mike simply stated he thought the league wouldnt be a proper league without simpee and clear as competition and he didnt think they should be considered cheaters and he just wanted the arguing to stop in the end you started wondering why he was defending them when all he was stating was an opinion which most people share on the forums, that they feel the league would infact be better off with these 2 as competition regardless of what they have done you saw it as some kind of defense and started moaning about why no one defended you as for this topic thing the topic was being argued on the jelly forums then eventually everybody seemed to have got tired of reading same stuff over and over again and gave up on it but now if you look you will find it is on clanwars.cc it is on exodus and it is on this forum(all this happened on the jelly forums yet you have continually put what happened in that topic on each of these forums and maybe more i havent checked any others).

i just find it ridiculous and childish to keep going on about it and i dont think an admin should really keep doing what you are doing

Which decision? They're all up for civilised debate. Go check the clanwars forums; some decisions are actually be affected by the debates... skins, for example.

ZeLL wrote on Tue, 27 October 2009 08:44and now your missing my point you have said what you needed to say about them breaking the rules but there was in all honesty no reason to keep repeating it

It's very hard to take this seriously when you've said nothing bad against clear and simpee. They "kept repeating it" too... at least what I said was actually true.

ZeLL wrote on Tue, 27 October 2009 08:44mike simply stated he thought the league wouldnt be a proper league without simpee and clear as competition and he didnt think they should be considered cheaters and he just wanted the arguing to stop

Check the thread again... once again it was up to me to be the better man. I dropped it and said they can both play in the league so long as they try playing fairly and abiding by the rules... this is in spite of everything they've done.

ZeLL wrote on Tue, 27 October 2009 08:44in the end you started wondering why he was defending them when all he was stating was an opinion which most people share on the forums, that they feel the league would infact be better off with these 2 as competition regardless of what they have done you saw it as some kind of defense and started moaning about why no one defended you read what i just said about this, it's very simple.

clanwars? it seems like it belongs on clanwars.

jelly? clear and simpee started their ridiculous campaign of lies there, not me.

exodus? some other players brought it up, i just answered their questions.

and here seems like a fairly appropriate place to mention it too, since we're talking about revitalising the league.

anyway, what's your huge objection to me talking about this? is it because it totally humiliates your friends? people post all sorts of ridiculous crap to flame me all the time, i don't see you complaining about that.

ZeLL wrote on Tue, 27 October 2009 08:44i just find it ridiculous and childish to keep going on about it and i dont think an admin should really keep doing what you are doing taking a hard line against people like clear and simpee? defending himself against false accusations? i think that's exactly what an admin should be doing.

we both have different views on how an admin should move on you find continually making them out to be liars cheaters etc in every communities forums.

i think you should just answer and then leave it since you already said you successfully made your point and proved them to be liars etc there is really no need to emphasize on it and continue on 3 other different forums about it my objection with this is rather then wasting your time repeating what you've said on other community forums and you can't say you was the bigger man and dropped it when there is posts on other forums STILL going on about it but i would like to see you concentrate on making the league active again because i would like to see clanwars being played actively again i think all that arguing and you repeating yourself over and over again did more damage then it did any good for the league and everybody in the topic seemed to see it but you

you may think differently but others(including me) believe it may have lured people away from the league

here's why nothing you say can be taken seriously. you wanna talk about driving players away from the league? how about me? the first few times people asked me to come back to the league, i didn't want to. i thought the community wasn't worth my time. ask td, bluelabel, hitman...

i eventually reconsidered because i thought there might be enough players in the league to make it worthwhile, and i thought i could return the league to something approaching its status 2-3 years ago when i was in charge, i.e. very fair and approachable. then i see shit like what clear and simpee tried to do. they tried to drive me away; me, whose reputation for fairplay and honesty is far better than theirs, who's at least comparable skill-wise (i won't assert that i'm better than simpee because he's made it plain how hurtful he finds that), and bonus, the only person with the dedication to run a clan league for so long.

and here's the thing: YOU HAVE NEVER CRITICISED WHAT THEY DID. this is why i can't take you seriously. you can be judged not only by what you say, but by what you don't say. you can tell someone's priorities not just by what they criticise, but what they obviously don't care about (if not actually approve of)

if anyone tries whingeing about a fair, skilled player being harrassed out of the league, but they DIDN'T say anything about what clear and simpee tried to do to me, they just can't be taken seriously.

drive you away? you mean the fact you told the jelly community that you think we should only get half the ladder because were not using your pointsfix? if so then obviously some people are going to take that badly cause people like simpee etc obviously hate the pointsfix maybe they didnt have to bring shit up which happened in the past to try and disencourage people to play it(i agree maybe it was a bit too much) but still its obviously clear you intimidate them because of how ridiculously far you go to get this points fix on every server(you can't say you didnt try disencouraging people to play in jelly because they would only get half the ladder then in a pointsfix server)

your both as bad as the other in this regard if anything each of you is trying to drive away the other

ZeLL wrote on Wed, 28 October 2009 07:58drive you away? you mean the fact you told the jelly community that you think we should only get half the ladder because were not using your pointsfix?

Firstly it's not 'my' pointsfix. Secondly this is a compromise over the original position, which was to not allow pointsbug servers to be ladderred at all.

The ladder weighting system is, I think, a good idea. Some server settings are clearly more strategic than others; do you not agree that a server with 0 start credits is more strategic than one with 9999 start credits? So we came up with a weighting system. eg if donate is on then that's -20%, another -10% if weapon drops are on, etc. Pointsfix makes the game more strategic in so many ways (even most of the anti-pointsfix crowd have conceded this) so what's wrong with giving that a positive weight on the ladder?

Everyone generally agreed that the weighting system itself was a good idea, but they couldn't stand the idea of the pointsfix being one of the criteria, even though the very same people (for the most part) had already conceded that the pointsfix is fairer and more strategic than the pointsbug.

ZeLL wrote on Wed, 28 October 2009 07:58if so then obviously some people are going to take that badly cause people like simpee etc obviously hate the pointsfix maybe they didnt have to bring shit up which happened in the past to try and disencourage people to play it(i agree maybe it was a bit too much)

Change the word "bring" for "make" and you're nearer the mark.

ZeLL wrote on Wed, 28 October 2009 07:58but still its obviously clear you intimidate them because of how ridiculously far you go to get this points fix on every server(you can't say you didnt try disencouraging people to play in jelly because they would only get half the ladder then in a pointsfix server)

No, I was trying to make the official ladder as fair as possible, to make it actually worth something.

And don't go saying simpee and I are "both as bad as the other". I'm absolutely fine with a community choosing not to use the pointsfix. Really, I am. Simpee has said many times that I should not be allowed to use the pointsfix in my community. Not only that but when I wanted to use the pointsfix first time around, he was part of a campaign of lies and manipulation and sabotage to subvert the admin's decision. No, don't go saying we're both as bad as each other.

i wouldnt even have to try and sabotage his league because his non-stop essays of nothingness and hitmans tough guy act do a pretty good job of driving new players away already.

its just like this topic really, a post about the league is made, liquid disagrees with something or other, spoony begins to essay, hitman jumps in tells liquid to stfu and maintains the bad clanwars reputation.

the sad thing is you keep blaming me and clear for this kinda shit when i didnt post until hitman directly attacks me. and still here you are aruging with zell(who u also dragged into this) and being unable to move on or ignore his post, and further reinforcing the fact that clanwars is made up of a bunch of retards.

yes, in rebuttal to personal attacks from clearshot. and you've never really stopped bringing up h2o supposedly pointpushing in the same month, have you? you even lied to everyone (again) to try to implicate me in it.

QQ more Zell ya little drama queen, and nice ReneEssays. November 2009 and your still fightin' the cause, lol.

All the lies you are telling about me is pretty ridiculous... I can't believe how personal you take this old game.

I was an admin of clanwars during some of the busiest periods of the manual league. You have no idea when I was an admin.

While I was admin, I'd like to add, I was 100% fair and never biased. I was watched like a hawk (since I was a competitor as well) by Spoony, and a lot of the community had guessed I was an admin so they also watched my decisions closely. You can bet your ass that if I ever made a decision that favoured H2O, there would of been an uproar, a 25+ page flamewar thread, and Spoony would of fired me quickly.

I was never accused of biased judgements as an admin. I filed all the AR's/Am's, set up the First 2 Fives, and did my job. Your welcome you ungrateful punk.

The league died when SMAK forums got shutdown... it had nothing to do with me. Go look at the Hall of Champions and you can see when the league suddenly died.

I've played 2500 manual league clanwars myself, and h2o has played 4600... I'd like to think I played a big part in keeping the clanwar league running as long as it did.

Tbh, we've played over a month with pointfix, lets take another popular vote on it?

After an active month with pointfix and no harvblock rule, i can honestly say it still pisses me off and wish we'd just play with no point mod. It really seems like you can completely dominate the game and only hold a 200 point lead, then lose a game you dominated for 25 minutes because someone gets remotes off. Games of field that usually had over a 1000 point lead with pointfix stay around 400-500 points. It's retarded, and completely fucks up the game imo. The only thing it really fixes for the good is the dumb amount of points snipers would get for hitting tanks before, but causes more new problems than it solves, it slows down the pace of the game bigtime.

and you did say we'd have the harv block rule open to debate, i still see no reason why you shouldnt be able to block your own harvester with a tank karmai wrote on Thu, 03 December 2009 16:47It really seems like you can completely dominate the game and only hold a 200 point lead, then lose a game you dominated for 25 minutes because someone gets remotes off.

i think you need to rethink the word "dominated". with the real, original renegade points system (i.e. the one we're using at clanwars), the points are a direct reflection of how much damage you're doing... so if you're 200 points ahead on field that basically means you've killed 2 more harvesters than they did. "dominated", eh?

slows it down? maps like wallsfly and field seem a lot more fast-paced than they were before. mesa2 is now as intense as a rush map.

ah, this is on a map you're "dominating", by killing two of their harvesters, so you should be able to block it to "dominate" even more?

domination

karmai wrote on Thu, 03 December 2009 16:47 It really seems like you can completly dominate the game and only hold a 200 point lead, then lose a game you dominated for 25 minutes because someone gets remotes off.
yeah this is very true, my team was getting dominated on citys flying, never leaving the base but we knew if we held off till the last 2 mins we could win since we could just rush their base with remotes and get 400 off and win the whole game.

i don't call a 400 point lead on a d map "dominating"... outplaying, certainly, but not to the point of "domination".

it's nice that you have a very risky way of winning... you get past them with a humvee? well, they ought to lay waste to your base while you're doing that. or if you are sneaky enough to get past them without them being bright enough to move further up, then seems quite reasonable that you still have a shot at the game.
