I have my files hosted on Brandon's site, only he informed me its going to be shut down at 31 december.

So I will have to find a new place to upload my stuff on. What I want is a free downloadsection where I can see how many times every specific file get downloaded, something the same as game-maps.net

Anyone got some advice for good downloadsections?

Do you need a site as in your own URL? If not, FileFront may be what you're looking for.

Why not just join GameMaps.net? You'll probably get more exposure and more downloads that way.

D0h, you should definitively go with game-maps.net...

Anyone that suggests otherwise should have his head examined.

I forgot to make clear I want to make my PERSONAL downloadsection. A page with only my stuff on it. I think game-maps is to messy with bad quality skins all over the place.

I wouldn't mind being it hosted over there to, but I also want like i sayed before my own page.

Well I figured it was appropriate for people who have no interest in skinning/modeling... For those that do, they would prolly agree that Di3's work is "high quality". He obviously has had more practice and developed his skills well with the programs he uses. I personally only wish I could make something of such "quality", so I stick to "lol" skins mainly.

Only to some people it is a ocean of piss, to others it is collection of attempts to make a game new and fun in a way... some of course have failed.

It is kinda like fixing up cars some people want cars in mint condition with all original parts, while other want to slap the biggest rims on them and put 10 TVs in them. Just because you don't like the choice of rims doesn't mean others don't.

Dover obviously doesn't know what he is talking about. My creations are model replacements which I put alot of time in, most of the things on game-maps are simply recolors of skins.

I have enough confidence about my work to say I make decent things for Renegade, If you disagree with that you are probably a moron. So fuck off with your stupidity.

Meh... I wouldn't say I lose because I referenced nazism. That is to easy...

As a matter of fact I would like to make a new law, Chew's law states that the longer a internet topic goes on, the probality of someone being called gay (faggot) because of their nonsexual related ideas approaches 1.

You could say the same thing about "STFU"...

Nazi comparisons are not nearly as overused as "faggot" or "stfu"... at least not here at Renforums.
