Just put my serial on again because i was getting an error and now it doesn't go to the log in screen, it goes straight to that error and doesn't let me type in any other names.

Apparently you typed in the wrong password for that nickname. Either recover your nick with the serial you registered it with, or take another nickname.

At the screen which says "advanced game listings", hover the mouse to the left. A bar will pop up. Click on "my information" and untick "automatically login with this account". Click on adv game listings and hit "delete account" (it will only delete it locally). Then enter the correct pass again.
