Now that the tourney is running to its end, I find it appropriate to give you a very big "thank you" in the name of the Renegade community. I do think all will agree with me that you have been through a lot of effort to make this tournament the success it has been.

Not everything has gone 100 % as planned but it never does . I'm happy you stuck to it until th end . It has really had an impact on the community: I see more community wars being organized and more communication between communities outside of the tourney as well.

Big thumbs up!

Next time let players who sign up for 1 community, then don't play for in it, play for another community please. Other than that, i thought everything was settled well on your guy's parts.
