when i last logged in, i typed my login and password and hit the 'log me in with these details' check box, but it seems that i saved the wrong password... it says wrong password, takes me to the server screen where it says no servers can be found at this time (when i know there are) but then gives me no option to correct the password... help please?!

{edit} ok update, i found the 'my information' bar (DUH ) and took my account off auto login so i can now see the box to type my password in but, i won't pysicaly let me click in the password box (notice it grayed out)...

{edit2} answering my own questions here, i deleted the account in the screen. then registered my c&c decades

i have now 'reset passwords' as per the sticky but i want to change it to something i'm going to remember. how do i do that?
